

Study Guide Questions:

1. Explain the anatomy and physiology of the brain.

- The brain is an amazing three-pound organ that controls all functions of the body, interprets information from the outside world, and embodies the essence of the mind and soul. Intelligence, creativity, emotion, and memory are a few of the many things governed by the brain. Protected within the skull, the brain is composed of the cerebrum, cerebellum, and brainstem.
- The brain receives information through our five senses: sight, smell, touch, taste, and hearing - often many at one time. It assembles the messages in a way that has meaning for us, and can store that information in our memory. The brain controls our thoughts, memory and speech, movement of the arms and legs, and the function of many organs within our body.
- The central nervous system (CNS) is composed of the brain and spinal cord. The peripheral nervous system (PNS) is composed of spinal nerves that branch from the spinal cord and cranial nerves that branch from the brain.

2. Differentiate between Intracranial Pressure and Cerebral Perfusion Pressure.

- Cerebral perfusion pressure (CPP) is the amount of pressure needed to maintain blood flow to the brain. CPP is regulated by two balanced opposing forces: Mean arterial pressure (MAP) is the driving force that pushes blood into the brain while Intracranial pressure (ICP) is the force that keeps blood out.

3. Discuss the pathophysiology of Increased ICP.

- Due to etiological factors > Components of ICP is disturbed brain tissue, CSF, Blood volume > An increase in the volume of any one component must be accompanied by a reciprocal decrease in one of the other components > when this volume -pressure relationship becomes unbalanced > ICP increases

4. Describe the Monroe-Kellie Theory's relationship to Increased ICP.

- Cushing conceptualised the Monroe-Kellie doctrine stating that a change in blood, brain or CSF volume resulted in reciprocal changes in one or both of the other two. When not possible, attempts to increase a volume further increase ICP.

5. What are the earliest and late signs of Increased ICP including the Cushing Triad?
