

ENDOCRINE SYSTEM

Endocrine System: WORKING TOGETHER

Each organ system works on other systems within the body to do its "job". See below to learn just some of the ways that the endocrine system interacts with other organ systems.

Nervous System

Circulatory System

Endocrine System: FACTS

Endocrine System: PROBLEMS

Most of the time, the endocrine system works perfectly well. However, sometimes problems can arise.

Diabetes

Diabetes is a condition that causes high blood glucose (sugar) levels. It is caused by the body being unable to either produce or use the hormone insulin. So, the glucose (sugar) gets stuck in the blood. Symptoms include increased thirst, weight loss, frequent urination, blurred vision, slow wound healing, and frequent weight changes, persistent acne, rashes, or itching in the hands.

Endocrine System: KEY TERMS

Term	Definition
Endocrine System	Network of endocrine glands that make, store, and release hormones.
Hormones	Chemical messengers that carry information and instructions from one cell to another.

Endocrine System: HORMONES

Hormones are chemical signals. Hormones are released into the bloodstream by endocrine glands. They travel through the bloodstream and bind to target cells, which then respond to the signal. Hormones can affect many different parts of the body, such as growth, metabolism, and reproduction.

Endocrine System: FIGHT-OR-FLIGHT

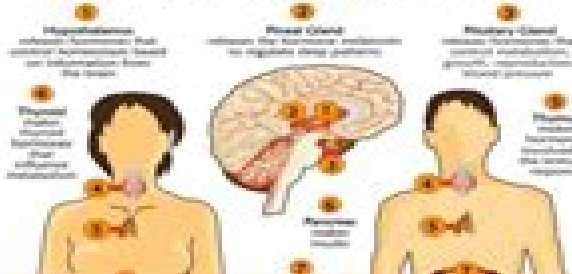

The fight-or-flight response is a reaction that occurs in the body when you are really frightened. The hormone adrenaline (also known as epinephrine) is released by the adrenal glands. Adrenaline makes your heart beat faster, your breathing faster, and your muscles tense up. This helps you to react quickly to a dangerous situation.

Adrenaline also makes your blood sugar rise, so you have more energy. It also makes your blood pressure rise, so blood can flow more quickly to your muscles. This helps you to react quickly to a dangerous situation.

Endocrine System: GLANDS

A gland is a structure that produces and releases substances that perform a specific function in the body. Some glands release hormones, while others release enzymes or other substances. The endocrine system is made up of glands that release hormones into the bloodstream.

Endocrine System: FEEDBACK LOOPS

Endocrine activities are regulated by complex feedback loops. These feedback loops help the body maintain a stable internal environment. When a hormone level rises or falls, it triggers a response that brings the level back to normal.

For example, if blood sugar levels are low, the pancreas releases the hormone insulin. Insulin helps to lower blood sugar levels by allowing cells to take in more glucose. Once blood sugar levels are back to normal, the release of insulin stops.

Another example is the thyroid feedback loop. The hypothalamus releases thyrotropin-releasing hormone (TRH), which stimulates the pituitary gland to release thyroid-stimulating hormone (TSH). TSH stimulates the thyroid gland to release thyroid hormones. These hormones increase the body's metabolic rate. When thyroid hormone levels are high, they inhibit the release of TRH and TSH, bringing the system back to balance.
