North Fork of the Clearwater River Wendell M. Stark, 2013 The book is about the inhabitants that lived and worked and raised their family s on the river prior to the building of the dam It starts with the Northern Pacific Railroad surveys It then tells about a band of the Nez Perce Indians that lived in the upper regions of this river for hundreds of years before the white man came It then talks about the miners and the trappers that found their way into the upper reaches of this river Then came the homesteaders when the area was opened up The U S Forest Service taking control of the vast amount of land and timber The loggers that came to harvest the timber The development of fire protection and finally how the river is used today

The Idaho Frontier: Stories of Survival and Strength Pasquale De Marco, 2025-05-14 The Idaho Frontier Stories of Survival and Strength tells the story of the Idaho frontier a place of both opportunity and danger Settlers came from all over the world to stake their claim on land build new communities and make a better life for themselves and their families But life on the frontier was hard The land was unforgiving the climate was harsh and there were constant threats from Native American attacks Despite the challenges the settlers persevered They built homes schools churches and businesses They farmed the land raised livestock and mined for gold and silver They also developed a strong sense of community and self reliance The Idaho frontier played a vital role in the history of the United States It was a place where the nation s character was forged The settlers who came to Idaho were pioneers in the truest sense of the word They were brave resourceful and determined to build a better future for themselves and their children The Idaho Frontier Stories of Survival and Strength is more than just a history book It is a collection of stories stories of courage determination and resilience It is a book that will inspire you and remind you of the challenges that our ancestors faced and the sacrifices they made to build the nation we live in today If you are interested in the history of the American West then you will love The Idaho Frontier Stories of Survival and Strength It is a book that will stay with you long after you finish reading it If you like this book write a review on google books Pioneer Days in Idaho County Mary Alfreda Elsensohn,1965 The Arams of Idaho Kristi M. Whitlock,1983-01-01 All Along the River Nellie Ireton Mills,1963 Before the Spud Evan Everett Filby,2012-10-01 According to scholars the Shoshone Bannock and Nez Perc s Indians of Idaho obtained horses roughly three centuries ago That makes them the first stockmen of Idaho although we know little of that history Still when the Lewis Clark expedition visited the future state in 1805 and 1806 they met bands of skill horseback hunters and warriors who owned vast herds of fine horses Before the Spuds details the history of Idaho stock raising during the century that followed that meeting The Indians remained Idaho s only stockmen until mid century For decades they supplied horses to British Canadian fur traders as well as Mountain Men from the United States Later they traded with emigrants passing through on the Oregon and California Trails But by about 1850 Idaho had a nascent cattle industry Traders in the south plus missionaries and Indians in the north had small herds for local consumption and limited trading Then in 1860 prospectors discovered gold in northern Idaho That brought tens of thousands of hopeful miners into the region followed quickly by entrepreneurs with bands of cattle and sheep to supply them with meat The influx led to the creation of Idaho Territory in March 1863 By then ranchers had moved stock onto grazing lands near the mining districts But the rising demand quickly outstripped regional supplies so stockmen began to purchase large herds of Texas cattle and drive them into the Territory Between 1866 and 1874 drovers led thousands of Texas cattle into Idaho Then in perhaps one growing season Idaho ranchers found themselves with too much stock So after about 1875 they began to send large drives of surplus cattle to markets in Omaha and further east Sadly all this growth led to conflict with the first stockmen of Idaho By around 1880 most of Idaho s Indians had been forced onto reservations Over the years Idaho and neighboring regions to the south saw the emergence of the buckaroo a herder whose equipment dress and techniques were more akin to the Spanish vaqueros than to the cowboys of Texas and the Southwest They had the range mostly to themselves until an east west railroad was completed in 1884 85 That sparked a surge in sheep ranching which led to clashes between cattlemen and sheepmen Although Idaho never had an all out range war isolated murders and stock killings flare up all over the Territory and then the state The last known Idaho range killing occurred in 1904 and friction persisted for another twenty years after that Shortly before World War I stock raising and dairy overtook mining as the leading income sector of Idaho s economy Before the Spud tells the stories of the Indians buckaroos and sheepmen who helped make that happen One example Arthur Pence born near Des Moines Iowa came to Idaho Territory in 1864 before his eighteenth birthday He worked as a freighter for about three years then took up cattle ranching along the Boise River He next settled in the Bruneau Valley married and ran cattle under the spade brand For a time after 1879 his cattle became a sideline to vegetable gardening In 1885 he decided sheep offered better prospects and switched Pence eventually became a major sheep rancher which allowed him to help found the Bruneau State Bank He served on the local school board and also in the state legislature for three terms including two terms in the Senate He played a prominent role in politics and stock raising until he was well into his seventies He passed away in 1935

"Whatever the Day Shall Bring" Gwen E. Sullivan, Washington State University. Department of English, 2013 White pine logging in the Inland Northwest began when timber barons from the Great Lakes region exploited the available timber in the Palouse region of eastern Washington starting in the late 1800s leading to the establishment of the towns of Palouse Washington and Potlatch Idaho a company town built and managed by the Potlatch Lumber Company As resources were depleted on the Palouse the timber companies began moving east into Idaho specifically the Clearwater River drainage where Pierce Idaho is situated The former mining town became another company town of sorts Reminiscences William Armistead Goulder, 1909 THE HISTORY OF BANNOCK COUNTY IDAHO ARTHUR C.
