Immigration

Immigrants are people who move to a new country to live. They may come from another country or from another part of the same country.

Immigrants come to a new country for many reasons. Some come to find work. Some come to find a better life. Some come to join family members who are already living in the new country.

Immigrants have helped to build the United States. They have brought with them new ideas, new customs, and new traditions. They have also helped to build the economy of the United States.

Early 1800s

The first large group of immigrants came to the United States in the early 1800s. They were mostly from Ireland and Germany.

1800s

The second large group of immigrants came to the United States in the 1800s. They were mostly from Italy and Greece.

1800s

The third large group of immigrants came to the United States in the 1800s. They were mostly from China and Japan.

1800s

The fourth large group of immigrants came to the United States in the 1800s. They were mostly from Mexico and Central America.
