Pursuing the Endless Frontier Charles M. Vest, 2011-09-30 The former president of MIT discusses challenges and policy issues confronting academia science and technology and the world at large In his fourteen years as president of MIT Charles Vest worked continuously to realize his vision of rebuilding America's trust in science and technology In a time when the federal government dramatically reduced its funding of academic research programs and industry shifted its R D resources into the short term product development process Vest called for new partnerships with business and government He called for universities to meet the intellectual challenges posed by the innovation driven globally connected needs of industry even as he reaffirmed basic academic values and the continuing need for longer term scientific inquiry In Pursuing the Endless Frontier Vest addresses these and other issues in a series of essays written during his tenure as president of MIT He discusses the research university's need to shift to a broader more international outlook the value of diversity in the academic community the greater leadership role for faculty outside the classroom and the boundless opportunity of new scientific and technological developments even when coupled with financial constraints In the provocative essay What We Don't Know Vest reminds us of what he calls the most critical point of all that science is driven by a deep human need to understand nature to answer the big questions that what we don't know is more important than what we do In another essay on the future of MIT he celebrates MIT's strengths as being extraordinarily well suited to the needs of an era of unprecedented change in science and technology In Disturbing the Educational Universe Universities in the Digital Age Dinosaurs or Prometheans he describes MIT's innovative OpenCourseWare initiative which builds on the fundamental nature of the Internet as an enabling and liberating technology Vest who is stepping down from MIT's presidency in the fall of 2004 writes with clarity and insight about the issues facing academic institutions in the twenty first century His essays in Pursuing the Endless Frontier offer inspiration to educators and researchers seeking the way forward

Information Technology in the Service Economy: Michael Barrett, Elizabeth Davidson, Catherine Middleton, Janice I. DeGross, 2010-05-09 This book represents the compilation of papers presented at the IFIP Working Group 8.2 conference entitled Information Technology in the Service Economy: Challenges and Possibilities for the 21 Century The conference took place at Ryerson University Toronto Canada on August 10-13 2008 Participation in the conference spanned the continents from Asia to Europe with paper submissions global in focus as well Conference submissions included completed research papers and research in progress reports. Papers submitted to the conference went through a double-blind review process in which the program co-chairs, an associate editor, and reviewers provided assessments and recommendations. The editorial efforts of the associate editors and reviewers in this process were outstanding. To foster high-quality research publications in this field of study, authors of accepted papers were then invited to revise and resubmit their work. Through this rigorous review and revision process, 12 completed research papers and 11 research in progress reports were accepted for presentation and publication. Paper workshop sessions were also established to provide authors of emergent work an opportunity to receive feedback from the IFIP 8.2 community. Abstracts of these new projects are included in this volume. Four panels were presented at the conference to provide discussion forums for the varied aspects of IT service and globalization. Panel abstracts are also included here.
