Drelich,Kash L. Mittal,2005-10-01 Since its discovery Atomic Force Microscopy AFM has become a technique of choice for non destructive surface characterization with sub molecular resolution The AFM has also emerged as a problem solving tool in applications relevant to particle solid and particle liquid interactions design fabrication and characterization of new materials an Water in Mineral Processing Jaroslaw Drelich, Jiann-Yang Hwang,2012 One of the major challenges confronting the mining and minerals processing industry in the 21st century will be managing in an environment of ever decreasing water resources Because most mineral processing requires high water use there will be even more urgency to develop and employ sustainable technologies that will reduce consumption and the discharge of process affected water Water in Mineral Processing provides a comprehensive state of the art examination of this vital issue A compilation of papers presented at the First International Symposium on Water in Mineral Processing this book shares the insights of dozens of respected experts from industry and academia A significant portion of the content is devoted to saline solutions and processing with sea water Other chapters explore the latest in water treatment and biological methods the effect of water quality on minerals processing and water and tailings management Water in Mineral Processing is an authoritative first of its kind resource that can help mining practitioners apply innovative water use and purification technologies in the demanding years ahead Bio-Geo Interactions in Metal-Contaminated Soils Erika Kothe,Ajit Varma,2012-01-05 Metal contamination is an increasing ecological and eco toxicological risk Understanding the processes involved in metal mobilization sorption and mineralization in soils are key features for soil bioremediation Following an introduction to the physical chemical and biological components of contaminated soils various chapters address the interactions of soil microorganisms plants and the water phase necessary to transfer metals into biological systems These include topics such as potential hazards at mining sites rare earth elements in biotic and abiotic acidic systems manganese redox reactions biomineralisation uranium in seepage water metal resistant streptomycetes mycorrhiza in re forestation metal hyper accumulation in plants microbial metal uptake and their potential for bioremediation This book will be of interest to soil biologists geologists and chemists researchers and graduate students as well as consulting companies and small enterprises involved in bioremediation Superhydrophobic Surfaces Alain Carré,K. L. Mittal,2009-04-24 Superhydrophobic surfaces water contact angles higher than 150 can only be achieved by a combination of hydrophobicity low surface energy materials with appropriate surface texture In nature one can find an array of impressive and elegant examples of superhydrophobic surfaces For example on a lotus leaf rain drops bounce off after impact then entirely roll off the lotus leaf and drag along any dirt particles without leaving residues The artificial design of superhydrophobic and self cleaning surfaces has become an extremely active area of fundamental and applied research This book presents both fundamental and applied aspects of superhydrophobic surfaces It describes also different strategies for making superhydrophobic surfaces from a large diversity of materials polymers metals and other inorganic materials composites and processes lithographic techniques electrochemical processes self assembly processes colloidal particles sol gel processes nanofilaments or simple scraping A bountiful of information is covered in this book which represents cumulative wisdom of many world renowned researchers in the fascinating and burgeoning area of superhydrophobic surfaces Computational Science and Its Applications - ICCSA 2005 Osvaldo Gervasi,Marina L. Gavrilova,Vipin Kumar,Antonio Laganà,Heow Pueh Lee,Youngsong Mun,David Taniar,Chih

Jeng Kenneth Tan,2005-05-02 The four volume set assembled following The 2005 International Conference on Computational Science and its Applications ICCSA 2005 held in Suntec International Convention and Exhibition Centre Singapore from 9 May 2005 till 12 May 2005 represents the ne collection of 540 refereed papers selected from nearly 2 700 submissions Computational Science has rmly established itself as a vital part of many scienti c investigations a ecting researchers and practitioners in areas ranging from applications such as aerospace and automotive to emerging technologies such as bioinformatics and nanotechnologies to core disciplines such as ma ematics physics and chemistry Due to the shear size of many challenges in computational science the use of supercomputing parallel processing and sophisticated algorithms is inevitable and becomes a part of fundamental theoretical research as well as endeavors in emerging fields Together these far reaching scientific areas contribute to shape this Conference in the realms of state of the art computational science research and applications encompassing the facilitating theoretical foundations and the innovative applications of such results in other areas
