

EOY GOODBYE TO STUDENTS

ALMOST TIME

It's almost time to say goodbye
But not just yet, so please don't cry
What an awesome year it's been
And here we are, so near the end
You listened and learned, you worked so hard
From then 'til now, you've come so far
There were some bumps along the way
But we had fun most every day
Now you'll move on and start again
You'll have new goals and make new friends
Please know you'll always be a part
Of fond memories and of my heart

Farewell Note To Elementary Student:

Your Children Are Very Greatly in Danger Justin Murphy, 2022-03-15 In Your Children Are Very Greatly in Danger veteran journalist Justin Murphy argues that Rochester's educational disparities stem from historical and ongoing racial segregation. Education reform alone cannot resolve racial inequity; cities like Rochester must first dismantle segregation. Through interviews and documents, Murphy shows how discriminatory policies and personal prejudice shaped the region's segregated educational system. Alongside this troubling history, he highlights the fight for integration from Frederick Douglass's advocacy in the 1850s to student activism inspired by Black Lives Matter in the 2010s. Murphy underscores how numerous failed efforts to uphold Brown v Board of Education demonstrate that desegregation and integration remain the best opportunities to improve educational and economic outcomes for children of color. In Rochester, that opportunity has been lost, leading to persistently poor academic results. Your Children Are Very Greatly in Danger offers both historical and contemporary analysis showing how northern cities must confront their past to build a more equitable future.
