Stefanopoulou, 2023-07-27 The Science Fiction Film in Contemporary Hollywood focuses on the American science fiction SF film during the period 2001 2020 in order to provide a theoretical mapping of the genre in the context of Conglomerate Hollywood Using a social semiotics approach in a systematic corpus of films the book argues that the SF film can be delineated by two semiotic squares the first one centering on the genre s more than human ontologies SF bodies and the second one focusing on its imaginative worlds SF worlds Based on this theoretical framework the book examines the genre in six cycles which are placed in their historical context and are analyzed in relation to cultural discourses such as technological embodiment race animal human relations environmentalism global capitalism and the techno scientific Empire By considering these cycles which include superhero films creature films space operas among others as expressions of the genre s basic oppositions the book facilitates the comparison and juxtaposition of films that have rarely been discussed in tandem offering a new perspective on the multiple articulations of the SF film in the new millennium Hitchhiking in America:

suicide and can help us rethink real world policies regarding mental health For decades we've been asking whether we could make a robot live but a new question is whether a living robot could make itself die And if it could how might we humans react Suicide is a longstanding taboo in Western culture particularly in relationship to mental health marginalized identities and individual choice But science fiction offers us space to tackle the taboo by exploring whether and under what circumstances robots as metaphorical stand ins for humans might choose to die Faber looks at a broad range of science fiction from classics like The Terminator franchise to recent hits like C Robert Cargill's novel Sea of Rust The Ultimate Hitchhiker's Guide Douglas Adams, 2005 6 Science fiction romaner One is Never Alone with a Rubber Duck Marilette van der Colff, 2010-08-11 What do existential elevators sentient mattresses paranoid androids humans and other aliens have in common For one thing they want answers The fact yes fact that there are no answers except perhaps for 42 causes some humans and other aliens to face this empty madness we call life with Sisyphus like defiance Others choose to sulk or skulk or annihilate themselves Another thing these creatures have in common is that they are all born mad and some remain so One is never alone with a rubber duck explores the premise that Douglas Adams's Hitchhiker Series is not merely characterised by light hearted comedy but is underpinned by intricate philosophical ideas especially those of twentieth century Existentialism and the related notion of absurdity It also investigates the interlaced functions of Adams's fantasy and landscapes of alterity and considers the ambiguous concept of madness as subjective reality Concepts related to alterity such as simulation the structure of reality dreaming and parallel universes are investigated as part of Adams's fantastic story space In a science fictional sense Adams's aliens satirise the human condition and the monstrosities that lurk at the heart of twentieth century society Black Space Adilifu Nama, 2010-01-01 Winner Rollins Book Award Southwest Texas Popular Culture Association American Culture Association 2008 Science fiction film offers its viewers many pleasures not least of which is the possibility of imagining other worlds in which very different forms of society exist Not surprisingly however these alternative worlds often become spaces in which filmmakers and film audiences can explore issues of concern in our own society Through an analysis of over thirty canonic science fiction SF films including Logan's Run Star Wars Blade Runner Back to the Future Gattaca and Minority Report Black Space offers a thorough going investigation of how SF film since the 1950s has dealt with the issue of race and specifically with the representation of blackness Setting his study against the backdrop of America's ongoing racial struggles and complex socioeconomic histories Adilifu Nama pursues a number of themes in Black Space They include the structured absence token presence of blacks in SF film racial contamination and racial paranoia the traumatized black body as the ultimate signifier of difference alienness and otherness the use of class and economic issues to subsume race as an issue the racially subversive pleasures and allegories encoded in some mainstream SF films and the ways in which independent and extra filmic productions are subverting the SF genre of Hollywood filmmaking The first book length study of African American representation in science fiction film Black Space demonstrates that SF cinema has become an important
