 Although spectral Indians appear with startling frequency in US literary works until now the implications of describing them as ghosts have not been thoroughly investigated In the first years of nationhood Philip Freneau and Sarah Wentworth Morton peopled their works with Indian phantoms as did Charles Brocken Brown Washington Irving Samuel Woodworth Lydia Maria Child James Fenimore Cooper William Apress Nathaniel Hawthorne and others who followed During the late 19th and early 20th centuries Native American ghosts figured prominently in speeches attributed to Chief Seattle Black Elk and Kicking Bear Today Stephen King and Leslie Marmon Silko plot best selling novels around ghostly Indians and haunted Indian burial grounds Ren e L Bergland argues that representing Indians as ghosts internalizes them as ghostly figures within the white imagination Spectralization allows white Americans to construct a concept of American nationhood haunted by Native Americans in which Indians become sharers in an idealized national imagination However the problems of spectralization are clear since the discourse questions the very nationalism it constructs Indians who are transformed into ghosts cannot be buried or evaded and the specter of their forced disappearance haunts the American imagination Indian ghosts personify national guilt and horror as well as national pride and pleasure Bergland tells the story of a terrifying and triumphant American aesthetic that repeatedly transforms horror into glory national dishonor into national pride The Oxford Handbook of Indigenous American Literature James Howard Cox, Daniel Heath Justice, 2014 Over the course of the last twenty years Native American and Indigenous American literary studies has experienced a dramatic shift from a critical focus on identity and authenticity to the intellectual cultural political historical and tribal nation contexts from which these Indigenous literatures emerge The Oxford Handbook of Indigenous American Literature reflects on these changes and provides a complete overview of the current state of the field The Handbook s forty three essays organized into four sections cover oral traditions poetry drama non fiction fiction and other forms of Indigenous American writing from the seventeenth through the twenty first century Part I attends to literary histories across a range of communities providing for example analyses of Inuit Chicana o Anishinaabe and M tis literary practices Part II draws on earlier disciplinary and historical contexts to focus on specific genres as authors discuss Indigenous non fiction emergent trans Indigenous autobiography Mexicanoh and Spanish poetry Native drama in the U S and Canada and even a new Indigenous children s literature canon The third section delves into contemporary modes of critical inquiry to expound on politics of place comparative Indigenism trans Indigenism Native rhetoric and the power of Indigenous writing to communities of readers A final section thoroughly explores the geographical breadth and expanded definition of Indigenous American through detailed accounts of literature from Indian Territory the Red Atlantic the far North Yucat n Amerika Samoa and Francophone Quebec Together the volume is the most comprehensive and expansive critical handbook of Indigenous American literatures published to date It is the first to fully take into account the last twenty years of recovery and scholarship and the first to most significantly address the diverse range of texts secondary archives writing traditions literary histories geographic and political contexts and critical discourses in the field

Listening to the Land Lee Schweninger, 2010-01-25 For better or worse representations abound of Native Americans as a people with an innate and special connection to the earth This study looks at the challenges faced by Native American writers who confront stereotypical representations as they assert their own ethical relationship with the earth Lee Schweninger considers a range of genres memoirs novels stories essays by Native writers from various parts of the United States Contextualizing these works within the origins evolution and perpetuation of the green labels imposed on American Indians Schweninger shows how writers often find themselves denying some land ethic stereotypes while seeming to embrace others Taken together the time periods covered in Listening to the Land span more than a hundred years from Luther Standing Bear s description of his late nineteenth century life on the prairie to Linda Hogan s account of a 1999 Makah hunt of a gray whale Two thirds of the writers Schweninger considers however are well known voices from the second half of the twentieth century including N Scott Momaday Louise Erdrich Vine Deloria Jr Gerald Vizenor and Louis Owens Few ecocritical studies have focused on indigenous environmental attitudes in comparison to related work done by historians and anthropologists Listening to the Land will narrow this gap in the scholarship moreover it will add individual Native American perspectives to an understanding of what to these writers is a genuine Native American philosophy regarding the land
