Gauteng Department Of Health Nursing Training For 2016:

A framework for continuous quality improvement for fast-track queues in clinics in eThekweni Dudu G. Sokhela, 2024-05-31 This book explores primary health care users who visit the clinic for short consultations those who regularly come to collect medication for chronic illnesses such as hypertension diabetes mellitus arthritis epilepsy tuberculosis HIV and AIDS clients for family planning and babies coming for routine weight monitoring immunisation and routine prophylactic treatment Since these health care users come for short consultations the research investigates where the bottlenecks in the clinic queues resulted in long waiting times and if these consultations were of expected quality This book arose from the author's own experience working in a primary health care setting focused on the challenges faced by patients This book will add to the body of knowledge and management of health care users as this book offers practical recommendations that are tailor-made for specific health care users to be implemented by primary health care providers and settings Furthermore the country is faced with a burden of communicable and non communicable diseases New strategies are required to address the ever changing disease pattern and the rapidly growing populations Healthcare Access - New Threats, New Approaches Ayşe Emel Önal, 2023-11-02 Access to health care is the ability to receive health services for the prevention detection and treatment of disorders that affect health For health care to be accessible it must be affordable and able to protect and improve health There are myriad reasons that may make access to health services difficult or even impossible These include economic problems conflicts climate change internal and external migrations beliefs and so on This book examines many of these barriers to health care and proposes solutions for overcoming them Geographies of Health and Development Rachel Bezner Kerr, Isaac Luginaah, 2016-03-03 The geographies of health and development is an emerging sub discipline tying in with many of the conceptual theoretical and practical components of other disciplines working in health health care economics and international development Spatially and theoretically grounded in geography this collection offers a fresh perspective on the dialectic relationships between health and development Health problems in a developing context take on much higher rates of prevalence as a result of the varied cultural structural and economic vulnerabilities of the people they impact This book begins by exploring some of the circumstances surrounding the distinctive health inequities currently facing many developing countries including malaria maternal mortality and HIV AIDS This is followed by a discussion of how matters of physical access and human resource issues and perhaps most importantly the challenges of financing together shape the access and utilization of health care Examining how the environment interacts to influence the health of the people that live there the next section includes discussion around challenges of food in security and the importance of clean and uncontaminated water for health Finally the book explores the influence of globalization on health specifically within the urban environment against the backdrop of global health policy ECRM 2021 20th European Conference on Research Methods in Business and Management Dr Manuel Au-Yong-Oliveira, Prof Carlos Costa, 2021-06-07 Conference

Proceedings of 20th European Conference on Research Methods in Business and Management Emancipatory Feminism in the Time of Covid-19 Vishwas Satgar, Ruth Ntlokotse, Hawzhin Azeez, Asanda Benya, Christine Bischoff, Jane Cherry, Jacklyn Cock, Samantha Hargreaves, Inge Konik, Jane Mbithi-Dikgol, Courtney Morgan, Sonia Phalatse, Busi Sibeko, Dineo Skosana, 2023-07-01 The Covid 19 pandemic showed that a patriarchal capitalist socio economic system is unable to address the socio ecological reproduction need of societies This volume foregrounds the possibilities emancipatory feminism creates by resisting neo liberalism through grassroots and indigenous activism The Covid 19 pandemic threw into stark relief the multi dimensional threats created by neoliberal capitalism Government measures to alleviate the crisis were largely inadequate leaving women in particular working class women to carry the increased burden of care work while at the same time placing themselves in direct risk as frontline workers Emancipatory Feminism in the Time of Covid 19 the seventh volume in the Democratic Marxism series explores how many subaltern women working class peasant and indigenous challenge hegemonic neoliberal feminism through their resistance to ordinary capitalist practices and ecological extractivism Contributors cover women s responses in a wide range of contexts from women leading the defence of Rojava the Kurdish region of Syria to approaches to anti capitalist ecology and building food secure pathways in communities across Africa to championing climate justice in mining affected communities and transforming gender divisions in mining labour practices in South Africa to contesting macro economic policies affecting the working conditions of nurses Their practices demonstrate a feminist understanding of the current systemic crises of capitalism and patriarchal oppression What is offered in this collection is a subaltern women s grassroots resistance focused on advancing and enabling solidarity based political projects deepening democracy building capacities and alliances to advance new feminist alternatives Working with indigenous knowledge Fhumulani M. Mulaudzi, Rachel T. Lebese, 2022 The aim of the book is to assist both local and international scholars in articulating the scholarly discourse on indigenous health attitudes practices and experiences The indigenous lens that was used to generate and disseminate indigenous knowledge in this book will strengthen indigenous scholarship thus making it accessible to a wider audience In addition the information shared in this book will add value for scholars and assist them with the indigenous knowledge needed to address sustainable development goals This book is timeous and topical as the discourse on the decolonisation of the curriculum is widely debated in the higher education space The discourse on the scholarship of indigenous knowledge as the tacit local knowledge that stems from cultural practices within communities has not been well articulated in the current health science education milieu Indigenous knowledge has remained overlooked and undermined for a very long time and the information remains untapped in local communities The scholars who conducted the research on which this book is based unearthed a wealth of knowledge which was tacit in nature and translated it into implicit knowledge that can be documented and shared with other scholars globally This knowledge will assist health care scholars in benefiting from knowledge practices and cultural beliefs that will assist them in health care planning teaching

Proceedings of the International Conference on Education Research Reza Hosseini, Leadership Approaches to Negotiate Challenges in a Changing Education Landscape Leentjie van Jaarsveld, Kobus Mentz, Charl C.

Wolhuter, 2020-12-31 The argumentative point of departure of this scholarly book is the common conviction of specialists in the field of education in South Africa that the national education system is not at a satisfactory level in both the academic and the public discourse. Such allegations are made and frequently stronger adjectives than non-satisfactory are used. Results of international test series in which South Africa has participated such as the 2015 TIMSS tests confirm the negative verdicts found in the public and scholarly discourse. This book aims to argue that although the lack of performance could be attributed to a multiplicity of factors, one factor that can make a difference in the achievement levels obtained by learners in schools is leadership. The book demonstrates that a particular problem of both the scholarly and the public discourse on education in South Africa is an overtone of defeatism or resignation blaming all ills in the education system and educational institutions on historical legacies and/or contextual factors such as socio-economic deprivation in the catchment areas of schools or poor resources and infrastructure. This collected work was inspired by a recently published spate of articles on top performing schools including top performing schools in rural communities in which it was demonstrated that good leadership can overcome such contextual and other challenges. The book unpacks the issue of leadership in South African schools from a variety of perspectives thus contributing to the development of the scholarly discourse on Educational Leadership in South Africa. The target audience of the book is scholars of Educational Leadership. The research reported in the chapters draws on a wide range of methodologies including empirical survey research, questionnaires and interviews, critical literature surveys and the comparative method. Lifestyle, Biological Risk Factors for Non-Communicable Diseases in the Midst of Social Inequalities and COVID-19 Kotsedi Monyeki, Andre Pascal Kengne, Benedicta Ngwenchi Nkeh-Chungag, Han C. Reviews in Vaccination Programmes Chiara de Waure, Maarten Jacobus Postma, 2025-08-19 Infectious diseases continue to pose significant global health threats highlighting the crucial role of vaccination in safeguarding public health. Vaccination has been one of the most successful public health interventions in history leading to the eradication or significant reduction of many life-threatening diseases. Vaccinations are provided within programmes that vary between and within countries and also in the light of the different organization of healthcare systems. As new infectious agents emerge and existing ones evolve it becomes imperative to continually review, monitor and update vaccination programmes to ensure their relevance and success. In order to do so several aspects should be considered concerning not only vaccines' properties but also the burden and relevance of diseases, organizational aspects, public response and sustainability. This Research Topic aims to collect review articles on the latest developments in vaccination policies and strategies focusing on how they were informed developed implemented and monitored and on their contribution to population health and well being

The Politics of Potential Michelle Pentecost, 2024-01-12 The first one thousand days of human life or the period between conception and age two is one of the most pivotal periods of human development Optimizing nutrition during this time not only prevents childhood malnutrition but also determines future health and potential The Politics of Potential examines early life interventions in the first one thousand days of life in South Africa drawing on fieldwork from international conferences government offices health care facilities and the everyday lives of fifteen women and their families in Cape Town Michelle Pentecost explores various aspects of a politics of potential a term that underlines the first one thousand days concept and its effects on clinical care and the lives of childbearing women in South Africa Why was the First One Thousand Days project so readily adopted by South Africa and many other countries Pentecost not only explores this question but also discusses the science of intergenerational transmissions of health disease and human capital and how this constitutes new forms of intergenerational responsibility The women who are the target of first one thousand days interventions are cast as both vulnerable and responsible for the health of future generations such that despite its history intergenerational responsibility in South Africa remains entrenched in powerfully gendered and racialized ways
