

Chapter 9: Cellular Respiration and Fermentation

- 9.1 Explain how the redox reactions of catabolic pathways yield energy by oxidizing organic fuels.
- 9.2 Trace the pathway of glucose oxidation during glycolysis.
- 9.3 Describe the oxidation of pyruvate and the process by which further oxidation occurs in the citric acid cycle.
- 9.4 Identify the steps of oxidative phosphorylation and account for the total ATP produced per glucose molecule during cellular respiration.
- 9.5 Name two types of fermentation and explain how they result in ATP production.
- 9.6 Use examples to illustrate the interactions of glycolysis and the citric acid cycle with other metabolic pathways.

Although this is a challenging topic, it will give you the background necessary to understand much about energy transfer at the cellular level. Each concept builds on the previous concept, so take your time working through the figures and text, and you will find you have mastered a difficult area of biology when you finish.

Study Tip: Before getting involved with the details of cellular respiration, take a second to look at the big picture as shown in Figure 9.1. Both photosynthesis (the topic for Chapter 10) and cellular respiration are key ecological concepts involved with energy flow. Use Figure 9.1 to label the indicated parts in the following figure.

Knitting Technology David J. Spencer, 2014-05-20 Knitting Technology details the fundamental principles of knitting. The title tackles the topics that are relevant to the application of knitting technology in education, industry or commerce. The coverage of the text includes flat, circular, full fashioned hosiery, Raschel tricot and crochet production. The selection also discusses the historical development of the types of machines and their actions and mechanisms as well as the construction properties and end uses of the products they manufacture. The book will be of great use to anyone involved in weft and warp knitting.

The Technological Competence of Arbitrators Katia Fach Gómez, 2023-11-25 Arbitration is facing revolutionary changes due to new technologies' irruption into the entire arbitration proceeding. Wide ranging technical legal concepts such as e discovery, e hearing, cyber security protocol, e deliberations, algorithmic decision making and digital signing have become part of life. Technology's impact on arbitration is unlikely to decrease after the COVID crisis; on the contrary, how the arbitration community positions itself vis vis technology will be a key factor in determining arbitration's future. Faced with this challenging scenario, the book discusses a novel legal topic: arbitrators' relationship with this increasingly ubiquitous, rapidly changing technology. This innovative book applies journalism's 5 W questions to the underexplored issue of arbitrators' digital competence. It reaches a workable definition of what digital competence in the current arbitration context is, also providing answers to the essential question of why arbitrators' digital competence is relevant from legal and financial points of view. Attention then shifts to who, with reflections on arbitrators working in a highly technological context and clarification of their relationship with other legal and non legal actors. The book equally offers an in depth comparative study of the question of where arbitrators' technological competence is regulated, with critical analysis of soft and hard law provisions that may impose a digital competence duty. Finally, the book specifies when arbitrators need to be digitally competent and develops legal proposals regarding key procedural stages: initial conference, hearings and legal topics: cybersecurity, data protection. The first study to scrutinise the rapidly changing relationship between arbitrators and technology, the book aims to spark a crucial debate among practitioners and scholars. Academically rigorous and using the latest legal material, it emphasises arbitrators' needs, rights and duties in our technological age, presenting them alongside carefully selected practical topics. The unprecedented and well grounded proposals for arbitrators' digital competence are intended to be a call to action for its broad target audience.

Fundamentals and Advances in Knitting Technology Sadhan C. Ray, 2012-03-14 The book looks at the history of knitting and how the process has evolved to the latest developments. The chapters discuss the principles involved in all types of knitting machines and the different types of loops and knitted structures. The science and quality aspects of knitting, calculations related to knitting and the mechanics of knitting are also examined.
