The linguistic model as defined in the Meaning Text Theory (MTT) is, first of all, a language production model. This makes MTT especially suitable for language engineering tasks related to synthesis: text generation, summarization, paraphrasing, speech generation, and the like. In this article, we focus on text generation. Large scale text generation requires substantial resources, namely grammars and lexica. While these resources are increasingly compiled for high density languages, for low- and middle density languages often no generation resources are available. The question on how to obtain them in a most efficient way becomes thus imminent. In this article, we address this question for MTT-oriented text generation resources.

1. Introduction

With the progress of the state of the art in Computational Linguistics and Natural Language Processing, language engineering has become an increasingly popular and pressing task. This is in particular true for applications in which text synthesis constitutes an important part – among other things, automatic text generation, summarization, paraphrasing, and machine translation.

Large coverage text synthesis in general requires substantial resources for each of the languages involved. While for high density languages, more and more resources are available, many of the low- and middle density languages are still not covered. This may be due to the lack of reference corpora, the lack of specialists knowledgeable in the field and in the language in question, or other circumstances. The question which must obviously be answered when a text synthesis application is to be realized for a low- or middle density language for which no text synthesis resources are available as yet: How can these resources be obtained in the most rapid and efficient way? This obviously depends on the exact kind of resources needed and thus, to a major extent, on the application and the linguistic framework underlying the implementation of the given system that addresses the application.

In this article, we focus on one case of text synthesis: the natural language text generation. We discuss the types of resources required for a text generator based on the Meaning Text Theory, MTT [1, 2, 3, and 4]. MTT is one of the most common rule-based linguistic theories used for text generation. This is not by chance: MTT's model is synthesis (rather than analysis, or parsing) oriented and it is formal enough to allow

Lexical and Grammatical Issues in the Meaning-text Theory Leo Wanner, Igor Aleksandrovič Mel'cuk, 2007-01-01 The Meaning Text Theory MTT is a lexicon centred and dependency based theory for the description of language using a holistic model that incorporates semantics syntax morphology and lexis This volume prepared on the occasion of Igor Mel'cuk's 70th birthday offers a cross section of the current advances in MTT and its applications The first part of the book focuses on lexical phenomena that are still largely neglected in mainstream linguistics sound symbolism as manifested by ideophones and idiosyncratic lexical relations as manifested by lexical functions LFs In particular LFs are addressed from different angles including the introduction of new standard LFs the argument structure and semantic decomposition of lexical relations captured by LFs automatic recognition of LF instances in corpora and the use of LFs in terminology and natural language processing The second part of the book deals with such prominent model oriented issues as semantic paraphrasing in MTT the role of phrase structure in MTT and syntactic analysis within MTT Meaning-text Theory Valentina Apresjan, 2013 An Advanced Introduction to Semantics Igor Mel'čuk, Jasmina Milićević, 2020-04-02 This book is an advanced introduction to semantics that presents this crucial component of human language through the lens of the Meaning Text theory an approach that treats linguistic knowledge as a huge inventory of correspondences between thought and speech Formally semantics is viewed as an organized set of rules that connect a representation of meaning Semantic Representation to a representation of the sentence Deep Syntactic Representation The approach is particularly interesting for computer assisted language learning natural language processing and computational lexicography as our linguistic rules easily lend themselves to formalization and computer applications The model combines abstract theoretical constructions with numerous linguistic descriptions as well as multiple practice exercises that provide a solid hands on approach to learning how to describe natural language semantics Selected Lexical and Grammatical Issues in the Meaning-Text Theory Leo Wanner, 2007-02-01 The Meaning Text Theory MTT is a lexicon centred and dependency based theory for the description of language using a holistic model that incorporates semantics syntax morphology and lexis This volume prepared on the occasion of Igor Mel'čuk's 70th birthday offers a cross section of the current advances in MTT and its applications The first part of the book focuses on lexical phenomena that are still largely neglected in mainstream linguistics sound symbolism as manifested by ideophones and idiosyncratic lexical relations as manifested by lexical functions LFs In particular LFs are addressed from different angles including the introduction of new standard LFs the argument structure and semantic decomposition of lexical relations captured by LFs automatic recognition of LF instances in corpora and the use of LFs in terminology and natural language processing The second part of the book deals with such prominent model oriented issues as semantic paraphrasing in MTT the role of phrase structure in MTT and syntactic analysis within MTT MTT 2003 École normale supérieure (Paris), 2003 Semantics Igor Aleksandrovič Mel'čuk, Igor A.
