Facing South David Bowman, Anita Parlow, Carl Abbott, Wayne Greenhaw, Allen Tullios, John Siceloff, Bill Finger, Valerie Quinney, Chip Hughes, Alvin Rosenbaum, Susan Moss, Throughout the country and even this region people view the South through myth and stereotype It s not surprising If they turn to newspapers to television and radio to popular films and literature to most history books and folklore they encounter these distortions They find insulting portraits of Southerners whitewashed presentations of southern economics and politics selective visions of history misunderstandings of relationships between people and between people and their land and work Many trivial qualities are romanticized other important ones are totally ignored Blacks are presented only as victims of racism and labor struggles are completely forgotten This view is inevitable when people simply treat the South as an aberration of mainstream America or a remnant of some past culture We at Southern Exposure look at the South from another perspective This is our home we are of it and examine it that we may know more of ourselves and our neighbors These are the politics and culture that surround us and affect us daily that we must analyze praise and attack so our lives can grow and prosper And this is the ground from which we must view the larger world By listening to local tobacco farmers discuss the pressures on them to expand or die we can better understand Earl Butz s plan for US agribusiness By hearing a bluesman s story we come to appreciate how a particular culture evolves from material hardship and inspires immense creativity

Modeling Complex Data for Creating Information Jacques-Emile Dubois, Nahum Gershon, 2012-12-06 J E DUBOIS and N GERSHON As with Volume 1 in this series this book was inspired by the Symposium on Communications and Computer Aided Systems held at the 14th International CODATA Conference in September 1994 in Chambéry France This book was conceived and influenced by the discussions at the Symposium and most of the contributions were written following the Conference Whereas the first volume dealt with the numerous challenges facing the information revolution especially its communication aspects this one provides an insight into the recent tools provided by computer science for handling the complex aspects of scientific and technological data This volume Modeling Complex Data for Creating Information is concerned with real and virtual objects often involved with data handling processes encountered frequently in modeling physical phenomena and systems behavior Topics concerning modeling complex data for creating information include Object oriented approach for structuring data and knowledge Imprecision and uncertainty in information systems Fractal modeling and shape and surface processing Symmetry applications for molecular data The choice of these topics reflects recent developments in information systems technologies One example is object oriented technology Recently research development and applications have been using object oriented modeling for computer handling of data and data management Object oriented technology offers increasingly easy to use software applications and operating systems As a result science and technology research and applications can now provide more flexible and effective services

Advances in Water Resources Engineering Chih Ted Yang, Lawrence K. Wang, 2014-12-06 This book Advances in Water Resources Engineering Volume 14 covers the topics on watershed sediment dynamics and modeling integrated simulation of interactive surface water and groundwater systems river channel stabilization with submerged vanes non equilibrium sediment transport reservoir sedimentation and fluvial processes minimum energy dissipation rate theory and applications hydraulic modeling development and application geophysical methods for assessment of earthen dams soil erosion on upland areas by rainfall and overland flow geofluvial modeling methodologies and applications and environmental water engineering glossary Architecture Martin van der Linden, 2021-03-12 The question of what architecture is answered in this book with one sentence Architecture is space created for human activities The basic need to find food and water places these activities within a larger spatial field Humans have learned and found ways to adjust to the various contextual difficulties that they faced as they roamed the earth Thus rather than adapting humans have always tried to change the context to their activities Humanity has looked at the context not merely as a limitation but rather as a spatial situation filled with opportunities that allows through intellectual interaction to change these limitations Thus humanity has created within the world their own contextual bubble that firmly stands against the larger context it is set in The key notion of the book is that architecture is space carved out of and against the context and that this process is deterministic

Technical Abstract Bulletin , 1982 The Burning Saints Dimitris Xygalatas, 2014-10-14 The Anastenaria are Orthodox Christians in Northern Greece who observe a unique annual ritual cycle focused on two festivals dedicated to Saint Constantine and Saint Helen The festivals involve processions music dancing animal sacrifices and culminate in an electrifying fire walking ritual Carrying the sacred icons of the saints participants dance over hot coals as the saint moves them The Burning Saints presents an analysis of these rituals and the psychology behind them Based on long term fieldwork

The Burning Saints traces the historical development and sociocultural context of the Greek fire walking rituals. As a cognitive ethnography, the book aims to identify the social, psychological, and neurobiological factors which may be involved and to explore the role of emotional and physiological arousal in the performance of such ritual. A study of participation, experience, and meaning, The Burning Saints presents a highly original analysis of how mental processes can shape social and religious behaviour.
