Perversion Prof. Lisa Downing, Dany Nobus, 2018-04-24 Perversion its ubiquity in infantile life and its persistence in the psychical and sexual lives of some adults was a central element of Freud's lifelong work The problem of perversion has since been revisited by many psychoanalytic schools with the result that Freud's original view of perversion has been replaced by numerous often contradictory perspectives on its aetiology development and treatment The concept of perversion has also been significant for the disciplines of cultural studies and gender and queer theory which have explored the creative and dissident powers of perversion while expressing a suspicion of its operation as a pathological category This bi-partite collection offers a series of perspectives on perversion by a range of psychoanalytic practitioners and theorists edited by Dany Nobus and a selection of papers by scholars who work with or critique psychoanalytic theories of perversion edited by Lisa Downing It stages a serious dialogue between psychoanalysis and its commentators on the controversial issue of non-normative sexuality

Part-Time Perverts Lauren Rosewarne, 2011-04-19 This book offers an erudite yet highly accessible exploration of the presence of sexual perversion in popular culture and its manifestation in everyday life An interdisciplinary exploration of sexual perversion in everyday life Part Time Perverts Sex Pop Culture and Kink Management starts from the premise that for better or worse everyone is exposed to a continual barrage of representations of sexual perversion both subliminal and overt Our involvement Dr Lauren Rosewarne contends is universal but our management strategies cover a spectrum of behavioral possibilities from total repression to total immersion It is those strategies that she examines here Drawing on her own experience as well as on pop culture and a multidisciplinary mix of theory Rosewarne shifts the discussion of perversion away from the traditional psychological and psychiatric focus and instead explores it through a feminist lens as a social issue that affects everyone Her book examines representations of perversion from suppression to dabbling to full body immersion and proposes a classification for perversion management and charts the diverse strategies we use to manage and perhaps enjoy exposure

Freud, 2018-03-08 Not all men vie with their fathers for the love of their mothers In some families the mother becomes the central figure for her son the father is excluded or excludes himself and does not come between mother and son The main thesis of this book using clinical vignettes and quotes from the work of Marcel Proust to illustrate the author s points is that in these cases fantasies of matricide replace patricide Men develop their male gender identity by being permitted to separate from their mother early on but when a man does not resolve his infantile tie to his mother he risks remaining in a passive and or dependent position towards her Over identification with the mother might ensue hampering masculine development Mothers who seek emotional support by binding their sons too closely can become seductive towards them The child is inclined to try to satisfy the emotional needs of his mother and he fears rejection if he asserts his independence instead of complying Going All the Way Brian Gleason, Marcia Gleason, 2007-11 The committed relationship is the perfect vehicle for accessing life s greatest gifts Deep pleasure profound intimacy personal fulfillment and creative expression are some of the many gifts that the committed relationship is capable of providing But for most couples these possibilities fail to materialize Instead partners silently slip into habits of interaction which choke off their ability to access their immense potential In Going All The Way authors Brian and Marcia Gleason offer a model of relationship called the Exceptional Marriage Safety and security are the trademarks of a passable marriage The Gleason s suggest a better option

An exceptional marriage creates space for partners to come alive. Such a relationship involves a radical commitment to support each other's truth and greatness. In their broader vision of a committed relationship, the Gleasons encourage and invite couples to claim their human potential through unlocking their full range of sincere and transformative emotions. In most marriages, these responses are hidden, avoiding precisely those areas where the greatest potential for growth and fulfillment exist. According to the Gleasons, a relationship is a living experience which allows couples to move between needs for security and connection and the human impulses toward adventure and creativity. By letting go of their control patterns, partners can free up their capacity to laugh, cry, shout, tremble, and soar together and individually. Going All The Way is a sincere invitation for couples to claim their emotional birthright and to have a truly Exceptional Marriage.

The Misuse of Persons Stanley J. Coen, 2013-11-26. In this major contribution to contemporary psychoanalysis, Stanley Coen illuminates a heretofore undescribed character structure especially resistant to analytic process. Pathologically dependent patients, for Coen, are identified not by surface character traits but by their response to the intrapsychic demands of analysis. Such patients remain in treatment, sometimes contentedly, sometimes amid rebukes and complaints, but they do not profit from it. Their inability to use insight, especially in the transference, is matched by a proclivity for sadomasochistic enmeshment. In analysis, this tendency translates into a continuing dependent attachment to the analyst. In exploring the genetic roots of pathological dependency, Coen ranges beyond extant trauma theories in describing a pattern of parent-child interaction in which repetitive behavioral enactments substitute for the acceptance and resolution of conflicts, both intrapsychic and interpersonal. In analysis, pathologically dependent patients use the analyst as they have come to use significant others throughout their lives, as part of a defensive structure characterized by repetitive enactments and a refusal to face what is wrong with them. This misuse of others is infused with destructiveness, hostility, and rage, and the analyst necessarily becomes the object of these powerful emotions. With such patients, then, the road to therapeutic progress invariably passes through the analysis of mutual transference and countertransference. Hate, the patient's tempting invitations to collusion and avoidance notwithstanding.
