Thinking Clearly with Data Ethan Bueno de Mesquita, Anthony Fowler, 2021-11-16 An engaging introduction to data science that emphasizes critical thinking over statistical techniques An introduction to data science or statistics shouldn't involve proving complex theorems or memorizing obscure terms and formulas but that is exactly what most introductory quantitative textbooks emphasize In contrast Thinking Clearly with Data focuses first and foremost on critical thinking and conceptual understanding in order to teach students how to be better consumers and analysts of the kinds of quantitative information and arguments that they will encounter throughout their lives Among much else the book teaches how to assess whether an observed relationship in data reflects a genuine relationship in the world and if so whether it is causal how to make the most informative comparisons for answering questions what questions to ask others who are making arguments using quantitative evidence which statistics are particularly informative or misleading how quantitative evidence should and shouldn't influence decision making and how to make better decisions by using moral values as well as data Filled with real world examples the book shows how its thinking tools apply to problems in a wide variety of subjects including elections civil conflict crime terrorism financial crises health care sports music and space travel Above all else Thinking Clearly with Data demonstrates why despite the many benefits of our data driven age data can never be a substitute for thinking An ideal textbook for introductory quantitative methods courses in data science statistics political science economics psychology sociology public policy and other fields Introduces the basic toolkit of data analysis including sampling hypothesis testing Bayesian inference regression experiments instrumental variables differences in differences and regression discontinuity Uses real world examples and data from a wide variety of subjects Includes practice questions and data exercises
