Alternative Models of Addiction Hanna Pickard,Serge H. Ahmed,Bennett Foddy,2015-12-07 For much of the 20th century theories of addictive behaviour and motivation were polarized between two models The first model viewed addiction as a moral failure for which addicts are rightly held responsible and judged accordingly The second model in contrast viewed addiction as a specific brain disease caused by neurobiological adaptations occurring in response to chronic drug or alcohol use and over which addicts have no choice or control As our capacity to observe neurobiological phenomena improved the second model became scientific orthodoxy increasingly dominating addiction research and informing public understandings of addiction More recently however a dissenting view has emerged within addiction research based partly on new scientific research and partly on progress in philosophical and psychological understandings of relevant mental phenomena This view does not revert to treating addiction as a moral failure but nonetheless holds that addictive behaviour is fundamentally motivated by choice and subject to at least a degree of voluntary control On this alternative model of addiction addictive behaviour is an instrumental means to ends that are desired by the individual although much controversy exists with respect to the rationality or irrationality of these ends the degree and nature of the voluntary control of addictive behaviour and motivation the explanation of the difference between addictive and non addictive behaviour and motivation and lastly the extent to which addictive behaviour and motivation is correctly characterised as pathological or diseased This research topic includes papers in the traditions of neuroscience psychology philosophy law and social science that explore alternative understandings of addiction Read, Write, Lead Regie Routman, 2014-06-17 Literacy is a skill for all time for all people It is an integral part of our lives whether we are students or adult professionals Giving all educators the breadth of knowledge and practical tools that help students strengthen their literacy skills is the focus of Read Write Lead Drawing on her experience as a mentor teacher reading specialist instructional coach and staff developer author Regie Routman offers time tested advice on how to develop a schoolwide learning culture that leads to more effective reading and writing across the curriculum She explains how every school including yours can Implement instructional practices that lead to better engagement and achievement in reading and writing for all students from kindergarten through high school including second language and struggling learners Build Professional Literacy Communities of educators working together to create sustainable school change through professional learning based on shared beliefs Reduce the need for intervention through daily practices that ensure success even for our most vulnerable learners Embed the language of productive feedback in responsive instruction conferences and observations in order to accelerate learning for students teachers and leaders In their own voices teachers principals literacy specialists and students offer real life examples of changes that led to dramatic improvement in literacy skills and perhaps just as important increased joy in teaching and learning Scattered throughout the book are Quick Wins ideas and actions that can yield positive affirming results while tackling the tough work of long term change Journal of the National Education Association ,1950 NEA Journal National Education Association of the United States,1950 Country Life ,1959 Normal Instructor ,1930 The New York Times Index ,2008 Children's Books in Print R R Bowker Publishing,Bowker,1999-12 Normal Instructor and Teachers World ,1930
