Nathan,Jack M. Gorman,2015-06-26 Like its predecessors this fourth edition of A Guide to Treatments That Work offers detailed chapters that review the latest research on pharmacological and psychosocial treatments that work for the full range of psychiatric and psychological disorders written in most instances by clinical psychologists and psychiatrists who have been major contributors to that literature Similarly the standards by which the authors were asked to evaluate the methodological rigor of the research on treatments have also remained the same Each chapter in A Guide to Treatments That Work follows the same general outline a review of diagnostic cues to the disorder a discussion of changes in the nomenclatures from DSM IV to DSM 5 and then a systematic review of research most of which has been reported within the last few years that represents the evidence base for the treatments reviewed In all 26 of the volume s 28 chapters review the evidence base for 17 major syndromes Featuring this coverage is a Summary of Treatments that Work an extended matrix offering a ready reference by syndrome of the conclusions reached by the chapter authors on treatments that work reviewed in their chapters New to this edition are two chapters at the beginning of the book Chapter 1 details two perplexing issues raised by critics of DSM 5 the unrealized potential of neuroscience biomarkers to yield more accurate and reliable diagnoses and the lingering problem of conflicts of interest in pharmaceutical research Chapter 2 contrasts Native American and western ways of identifying effective treatments for mental and physical disorders concluding that evidence informed culture based interventions sometimes constitute best practices in Native communities Two chapters detailing pharmacological treatments for pediatric bipolar disorder Chapter 9 and pediatric depressive disorder Chapter 12 have also been added More than three quarters of the chapters are written by colleagues who also contributed to most or all of the previous editions Hence this new edition provides up to date information on the quality of research on treatment efficacy and effectiveness provided by individuals who know the research best Investing in the Educational Success of Black Women and Girls Lori D. Patton,Venus Evans-Winters,Charlotte Jacobs,2023-07-03 In the powerful essays that make up Investing in the Educational Success of Black Women and Girls Black women and girls are listened to appreciated and valued in recognition of the unrelenting challenges to our existence in a world that continues to be committed to stifling our voices What these authors know intimately is that such stifling is not because what Black women and girls are saying isn t important It is precisely because it is This book names the challenges Black women and girls continue to experience as we pursue our education and offers implications and recommendations for practitioners teachers administrators and policymakers It needs to be read widely and deeply studied as much for its formations and beautiful representations of Black women and girls as its recommendations It is the truth telling we need today and a groundbreaking resource we need today and beyond Cynthia B Dillard Nana Mansa II of Mpeasem Ghana Athens Georgia and Cape Coast Central Region Ghana While figures on Black women and girls degree attainment suggest that as a group they are achieving in society the reality is that their experiences are far from monolithic that the educational system from early on and through college imposes barriers and inequities pushing many out of school criminalizing their behavior and leading to a high rate of incarceration The purpose of this book is to illuminate scholarship on Black women and girls throughout the educational pipeline The contributors all Black women educators scholars and advocates name the challenges Black women and girls face while pursuing their education as well as offer implications and recommendations for practitioners policymakers teachers and administrators to consider in ensuring the success of Black women and girls This book is divided into four sections each identifying the barriers Black girls and women encounter at the stages of their education and offering strategies to promote their success and agency within and beyond educational contexts In Part One the contributors explore the importance of mattering for Black girls in terms of redefining success and joy centering Black girl literacy pedagogies that encourage them to thrive examining how to make STEM more accessible to them and recounting how Black girls emotions and emotional literacy can either disempower them or promote their sense of agency to navigate educational contexts Part Two uncovers the violence directed toward and the criminalization of Black women and girls and how they are situated in educational and justice systems that collude to fail them The contributors address incarceration and the process of rehabilitation and reentry the outcomes of disciplinary action in schools on women who pursue college and describe how the erasure and disregard of Black women and girls leaves them absent from the educational policies that deeply affect their lives and wellbeing Part Three focuses on how Black women are left to navigate without resources that could make their collegiate pathways smoother covers how hair politics impact their acceptance in college leadership roles particularly at HBCUs illuminates the importance of social emotional and mental health for Black undergraduate women and the lack of adequate resources and explores how women with disabilities navigate higher education The final part of this book describes transformative approaches to supporting the educational needs of Black women and girls including the use of a politicized ethic of care intergenerational love and dialogue and constructing communities including digital environments to ensure they thrive through their education and beyond Systematic is essential reading for any student or researcher looking to approach their literature review in a systematic way Doing Development Research Vandana Desai, Rob Potter, 2006-03-15 Doing Development Research is a comprehensive introduction to research in development studies that provides thorough training for anyone carrying out research in developing countries. It brings together experts with extensive experience of overseas research presenting an interdisciplinary guide to the core methodologies. Informed by years of research experience, Doing Development Research draws together many strands of action research and participatory methods, demonstrating their diverse applications and showing how they interrelate. The text provides an account of the theoretical approaches that underlie development work, an explanation of the practical issues involved in planning development research, a systematic overview of information and data collecting methods in three sub-sections: methods of social research and associated forms of analysis; using existing knowledge and records; disseminating findings. Research using clear and uncomplicated language, illustrated with appropriate learning features throughout, the text guides the researcher through the choice of appropriate methods, the implementation of the research, and the communication of the findings to a range of audiences. This is the essential A-Z of development research. General Technical Report PSW, 1978

A Medical Teacher's Manual for Success Helen M. Shields, 2011-01-03 Although most medical school faculty members are required to teach the standard medical school curriculum, doesn't tell them how to do it well. This book does. An award-winning clinician teacher, Helen M. Shields has spent her career training future doctors, researchers, and medical school instructors. Here she shares classroom-tested methods for developing, implementing, and evaluating effective curricula for medical students. Shields's five steps emphasize extensive behind-the-scenes preparation with a focus on visualizing both one's own performance and the desired student feedback: clear and logical presentations that match the material being taught; controlled exploration of topics through prepared questions and management of group dynamics; reinforcement of important concepts throughout the teaching session; a five-minute summary of take-home points. Shields's easy-to-follow guide discusses what teachers should do and what they should not do. She provides pertinent beginning-of-chapter questions, sample teaching materials, tips for last-minute assignments, and other pearls of wisdom. Shields also describes the methods of dynamic and effective instructors, offers a step-by-step approach to preparation and presentation, and relates proven ways to address a variety of expected and unexpected situations. Innovative and practical, A Medical Teacher's Manual for Success is an essential resource for medical school faculty members who want to teach well.
