At a glance

This new appliance offers an innovative, pragmatic approach to harness the power of distributed caching as a complete, purpose-built, easy-to-use solution. It allows you to leverage the value of your existing infrastructure investments. The DataPower® XC10 appliance lets you bring higher performance, fault tolerance, and scalability to common distributed caching scenarios including:

- HTTP session replication
- Extended Dynamic Cache service of WebSphere® Application Server
- Web side-cache accessed via a network connection

A large (160 GB), remote, partitioned, replicated, scalable data cache can be used for storage of simple key/value pairs. This cache can be utilized instead of a back-end database to provide increased application scalability and performance.

The DataPower XC10 appliance can offer:

- Reduced hosting charges / processing on more expensive systems (lower cost per transaction)
- A mechanism to free up strategic systems to do more important work
- Better scalability and support for future growth (no bottlenecks)
- More robust support for cross data-center data replication

For ordering, contact your IBM® representative, an IBM Business Partner, or IBM Americas Call Centers at 800-IBM-CALL (Reference: NE001).
