Hammond, 2009-08-06 2006 in Helmand saw British forces engaged in the most ferocious fighting since the Korean War For much of the time they were hanging on by their fingertips holed up in remote platoon houses outnumbered facing relentless assault and nearly overwhelmed Only the Chinooks kept them in the game But that meant their crews putting down in hot LZs exposing their aircraft to withering attack from an enemy for whom downing one of the big helos would be the ultimate prize They had been lucky So far Then they launched their biggest operation yet a complicated high risk airborne assault that launched a fleet of heavily armed helicopters into the Afghan Heart of Darkness And then a report came over the net that one of the Chinooks was down In Immediate Response Major Mark Hammond a Royal Marine flying with the RAF tells the gripping inside story of the Chinook squadrons war for the first time It's a visceral unputdownable combination of hi tech and old fashioned grit an action packed story shot through with a mix of aviation fuel and cordite The Saturday Evening Post

Service Richard Dorney, 2005 An Active Service traces a young Sid Dowland from civilian life into the tough environment of the Guards Depot in the 1930s and then on to a Guards service Battalion in London and prewar Egypt. The outbreak of war found Sid taking part in the retreat to Dunkirk and then service in North Africa before volunteering for the SAS. Captured after a disastrous raid in Sardinia, he escaped from a POW camp in Italy before making it back to England. The end of the war did not signal peace as the Guards were sent into action in Palestine and subsequently to the jungles of Malaya where Sid found that his SAS experience was in great demand. Sid later told his story to Richard Dorney himself. A Guardsman An Active Service is a tale of adventure but will be of interest to anyone studying the Second World War or the early days of the SAS. Most of the historical information is previously unpublished and much of it is drawn from SAS operation reports in the National Archives and from the war diaries of the Grenadier Guards. The lively text is accompanied by many previously unseen photographs from private collections and is brought to life by a series of high quality and accurate drawings depicting the uniforms of the day. It is an enjoyable human story but is also an accurate account of military life during the war years which will be of interest to anyone researching or studying this period particularly those with an interest in the early days of the SAS, the world's premier light force. Key sales points: Fascinating personal story of a member of the Grenadier Guards and SAS covering pre WWII service as a regular, Dunkirk, the early days of the SAS and postwar Palestine and Malaya. Contains much previously unpublished information from archives and war diaries as well as Sid's account of the early days of the SAS and service with the Grenadier Guards. Lively text supplemented by a number of interesting photos and superb drawings by artist Sean Bolan. California Engineer, 1923 MotorBoating, 1918-01 American Illustrated Magazine, 1916
