Treaty in December 2009 and a new Article 33 of the Treaty on European Union that commits the Union to promoting the protection of the rights of the child. This book addresses the question of whether the Common European Asylum System (CEAS) complies with the rights of the child. It contrasts the normative standards of international child rights law with the treatment of child asylum seekers and refugees in the CEAS. Ciara Smyth identifies the attributes of the rights of the child that are most relevant to the asylum context and systematically examines whether and to what extent those attributes are reflected in the CEAS legislation. The book goes on to assess whether the CEAS instruments direct Member States to comply with the rights of the child, offering a comprehensive examination of the place of the child within European asylum law and policy. The book will be of great use and interest to scholars and students of international law, immigration and children's rights studies.

Young Children's Rights in a Digital World Donell Holloway, Michele Willson, Karen Murcia, Catherine Archer, Francesca Stocco, 2021-08-19. This volume focuses on very young children's aged 0-8 rights in a digital world. It gathers current research from around the globe that focuses on young children's rights as agential citizens to the provision of and participation in digital devices and content as well as their right to protection from harm. The UN Digital Rights Framework of 2014 addresses children's needs, agency and vulnerability to harm in today's digital world and implies roles and responsibilities for a variety of social actors including the state, families, schools, commercial entities, researchers and children themselves. This volume presents a broad range of research including chapters on parental supervision and control, the changing forms of play, early childhood education, media and cultural studies, law, design, health, special needs, education and engineering. Implicit within this book is the acknowledgement that children of various ages, abilities, socioeconomic and geographic backgrounds should have equal access to and positive, non-harmful experiences with new digital technologies and content as well as adult support and expertise that enhances these experiences. This passionate book celebrates the diversity of young children's activities in the digital world. It interrogates these through four intersecting lenses: their rights, play experiences, contextualised design and best practice. Balancing children's eager engagement with digital content alongside adult responsibilities for education, privacy and protection, the volume provides a fitting showcase for work of global relevance. Professor Lelia Green, Professor of Communications, Edith Cowan University, Perth, Western Australia. This compelling text provides a critical resource to inform our understanding of the intersection of the digital world and children's rights.

Ilene R. Berson, Ph.D., Professor of Early Childhood Education, Affiliate Faculty, Learning Design Technology Area, Coordinator, Early Childhood Coordinator, Early Childhood Ph.D. Program, University of South Florida, College of Education. A truly international collection that investigates young children's engagement with digital technologies. Identifying issues of public interest around digital practices, this highly readable book is a valuable resource for researchers, parents and policy makers. Professor Susan Danby, Director, ARC Centre of Excellence for the Digital Child and Faculty of Education, School of Early Childhood and Inclusive Education, QUT Kelvin Grove, Queensland.

Children's Rights Education in Diverse

Classrooms Lee Jerome, Hugh Starkey, 2021-04-08 With PISA tables accountability and performance management pulling educators in one direction and the understanding that education is a social process embedded in cultural contexts tailored to meet the needs and challenges of individuals and communities in another it is easy to end up in seeing teachers as positioned as opponents to the system Jerome and Starkey argue that the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child UNCRC 1989 can provide a pragmatic starting point for educators to challenge some of these unsettling trends in a way which does not set up unnecessary opposition with policy makers They review the evidence from international evaluations surveys and case studies about practice in human rights and child right education before exploring the key principles of transformative and experiential education to offer a robust theoretical framework that can guide the development of child rights education They also draw out practical implications and outline a series of teaching and learning approaches that are values informed aligned with children s rights and focused on quality learning
