A Reference Guide for English Studies Michael J. Marcuse, 1990-01-01. This ambitious undertaking is designed to acquaint students, teachers, and researchers with reference sources in any branch of English studies, which Marcuse defines as all those subjects and lines of critical and scholarly inquiry presently pursued by members of university departments of English language and literature. Within each of 24 major sections, Marcuse lists and annotates bibliographies, guides, reviews of research, encyclopedias, dictionaries, journals, and reference histories. The annotations and various indexes are models of clarity and usefulness, and cross references are liberally supplied where appropriate. Although cost-conscious librarians will probably consider the several other excellent literary bibliographies in print, such as James L. Harner's Literary Research Guide (Modern Language Assn of America, 1989), larger academic libraries will want Marcuse's volume. Jack Bales, Mary Washington Coll Lib, Fredericksburg, Va. Library Journal.

THE EBOOK VERSION OF THE PREVIOUS HARD COPY BOOK WAS RELEASED IN 1999 AS SEEN ON NUMEROUS AUSTRALIAN MORNING TV TALK SHOWS AND HEARD ON ABC RADIO I haven t been able to find a written guide for School Leavers Disabled people seeking employment as well as long term unemployed people wanting to know the absolute BASICS of how to prepare themselves when looking for work which is critical for success In addition most books printed have long unclear or difficult words that totally confuse people and basically many Authors take for granted that everyone knows the basics of looking for work This book covers many different avenues when approaching job hunting I also include examples and ideas to think about while you look around for work or consider changing positions Especially with areas such as obtaining work before leaving school like in supermarkets and other small businesses I may be an Australian however as you read through you will quickly see that the suggestions etc I propose can be used anywhere in the world My diverse working career enabled me to pass on my knowledge to School Leavers Disabled people and unemployed Many of you would have been in the situation of having people from different organisations discuss with you about either being unemployed or looking for work If you have ever had to deal with this scenario you will understand how disillusioned you can get with the system My numerous employment skills gained from various areas enable me to understand many involved personal problems relating to the unemployed not to mention with my own disabilities and limitations I have confidence in that there would be many people out there who would like to ask the basic job questions however feel that they would be seen as silly questions My opinion is everyone needs to talk to someone sometime the discussion does not have to last for a very long time but just get it off your chest Nonetheless trying to find work is scary and I hope my book will help you secure that great job
