

Naturalistic Teaching

"What is naturalistic teaching? When do we use it?"

"Naturalistic teaching, also called incidental teaching, is used to strengthen, generalize, and maintain behaviors. We look for opportunities to reinforce the child in the natural environment."

Incorporating natural activities and natural reinforcers and consequences

Can take place in natural settings such as home and schools

Can involve parents, siblings, peers

Ex. Initiating social interactions, safety, gaining attention, gaining access to items
Look for strengthening, generalizing, and maintaining

LEAH CLINE:

You might be hanging out with the child wanting an item. You know they want cookies, so you wait for them to reach for cookies, and ask "what do you want?" saying please, and delivering the cookies as reinforcement.

Chaining

"Name the three types of chaining?"

"Forward, backward, and total task."

"Describe forward chaining?"

"We teach and reinforce the first step in the chain and prompt the rest. We then teach and reinforce the first and second steps and then prompt the rest."

Task Analysis = breaking complex skills into smaller, teachable steps (creates the chain)

Forward chain = 1st step is taught and reinforced, then remaining steps are prompted

Backward chain = last step is taught and reinforced, then remaining steps are prompted

Total Task chain = teach the entire chain all at once

LEAH CLINE:

If you were backwards chaining hand washing, you would prompt the child through the entire thing, and then have them dry their hands independently. You would deliver reinforcement after the last step (drying their hands).

Shaping

"What is shaping?"

"Reinforcing approximations of behavior to teach a novel behavior"

Differential reinforcement = reinforce only the approximation you want

Great for shaping language

Teaches novel behaviors
