

CHAPTER 6

6.1 Interpreting and analysing data

Purposes of graphs:

- a way of exploring the relationships in data
- a way of displaying and reporting data
- making it easier to report patterns and relationships, shapes of distributions, and trends

Any graph used to report findings should show:

- the significant features and findings of the investigation in a fair and easy-to-read way
- the underlying structure of an investigation in terms of the relationships between and within the variables
- the dependent variable on the horizontal (x) axis and the independent variable on the vertical (y) axis.

Types of graphs

We have the following types of graphs:

- Line graph
- Bar graph
- Histogram
- Scatter plot
- Pie chart
- Box and whisker plot

6.1.1 Line graphs

In data handling we use line graphs to show the relationship between two quantities. A line graph is formed by using straight lines to join data points which have been mapped on a grid. It is used to show the change of information over time.

Worked example 10

The table below shows the average number of minutes per month that Jeta spent watching TV from January to November last year.

Month	Jan	Feb	Mar	Apr	May	Jun	Jul	Aug	Sep	Oct	Nov
Daily TV viewing time (mins)	305	303	308	120	115	122	138	305	120	305	304

- Plot this data on a set of axes.
- Can you observe any trends or patterns in the data? Give some possible reasons for these trends.
- Would you be able to represent this data on a bar graph?
- What is the advantage of using a line graph to show this information?
