Invisible Hands Jonathan Sheehan, Dror Wahrman, 2022-12-06 A synthesis of eighteenth century intellectual and cultural developments that offers an original explanation of how Enlightenment thought grappled with the problem of divine agency Why is the world orderly and how does this order come to be Human beings inhabit a multitude of apparently ordered systems natural social political economic cognitive and others whose origins and purposes are often obscure In the eighteenth century older certainties about such orders rooted in either divine providence or the mechanical operations of nature began to fall away In their place arose a new appreciation for the complexity of things a new recognition of the world's disorder and randomness new doubts about simple relations of cause and effect but with them also a new ability to imagine the world's orders whether natural or manmade as self organizing If large systems are left to their own devices eighteenth century Europeans increasingly came to believe order will emerge on its own without any need for external design or direction In Invisible Hands Jonathan Sheehan and Dror Wahrman trace the many appearances of the language of self organization in the eighteenth century West Across an array of domains including religion society philosophy science politics economy and law they show how and why this way of thinking came into the public view then grew in prominence and arrived at the threshold of the nineteenth century in versatile multifarious and often surprising forms Offering a new synthesis of intellectual and cultural developments Invisible Hands is a landmark contribution to the history of the Enlightenment and eighteenth century culture

Multicultural Education in Colleges and Universities Howard Ball, Mbulelo Vizikhu Mzamane, Stephen D. Berkowitz, 2014-01-09 This book provides both an overview of the core dilemma in America racism and the deadly impact it has had on American society and an account of the ways in which the book's contributors have attempted to deal with this dilemma in their own teaching practice Two core essays explore the theoretical and historical issues involved in defining races and ethnic groups in the West and issues of racial and ethnic inequality in American society The volume then examines a variety of strategies for teaching the conflicts in comparative literature and politics African American literature law history and political science sociology religion economics anthropology and art and music A premise of this book is that multicultural education in colleges and universities must be transdisciplinary based on the perspectives offered by a multiplicity of interrelated disciplines Clearly scholars across the disciplines have a great deal to learn from one another about issues of race and ethnicity in American society This book shares such knowledge in order to provide relevant accurate information about these issues and their consequences for individuals living in America It also encourages university educators to understand the challenges we face as a society and to be idealistic enough to want to draw upon the various strengths of our culture to assist in the remaking of American democracy

Styles of Creation George Edgar Slusser, Eric S. Rabkin, 1992 The impetus behind this collection of original essays is the tension between the aesthetic emphasis on stylistics in science fiction and fantasy writing and the critical limitations imposed by prevailing literary theory From a variety of perspectives the contributors show how a new or expanded set of methods and models can enrich critical exchange within the genre and between it and other types of fiction The focus of the book is not entirely on critical restraints but also on the genre's robustly subversive creative drive its unwillingness or inability to pause for critical validation The essays examine the proliferation of stylistic acts and experiments in science fiction and fantasy writing as assess the genre's revolutionary qualities its reordering of narrative priorities inversion of consecrated categories and elevation of minor devices
