Brennan, 2013-05-15 Free clinics and student run clinics are an essential part of America's health care safety net. In community after community pro bono and student run health clinics have sprung up over the past 30 years providing critically needed care to medically underserved populations. Free Clinics is a mosaic formed by accounts of such clinics around the United States. These wide ranging narratives from urban to rural from primary care to behavioral health care provide examples that will assist other communities seeking to find the model that best fits their needs. The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act has improved access to health care for many Americans but millions remain and will remain uninsured or underinsured. Free clinics provide non emergency care to those in need. Nationwide professionals can be found offering volunteer services at these clinics. Contributors to this volume typically people with personal familiarity as clinicians or area residents with the clinics they write about cover a variety of topics including a review of the literature, data driven accounts of clinic usage and ethical guidelines for student run clinics. They describe the motivations of clinic staff, the day to day work of a family nurse practitioner working in clinics and teaching at a university, the challenges and rewards of providing health care for homeless people and more. Student run clinics are the topic of the second section in addition to providing care to a small subset of those in need, student run clinics are an important venue for training future clinicians and helping the seeds of altruism with which many enter their professions to germinate. Free Clinics will be useful to policymakers, students and faculty in public health and health policy programs and clinicians and students who are embarking on launching new clinics.     Mental Hygiene News , 1971     Women and Missions Lucia P. Furrow, 2019-10-09 Beyond the Self grew out of a conference of developmental scientists who examined the ways that young people were developing understandings of self that anchored youth to something larger than their own personal competencies and success. Each of the papers drew on the question of how one locates the formation of identity within the scope of different transcending demands or influences. This special issue is organized into three parts: moral, civic and cultural and religious identity, but are not exclusive in their focus on these themes as many of the sections provide a more integrated view of human development. In sum, these articles recognize that the search for identity and purpose within adolescence is informed by a multiplicity of voices.     The Rotarian , 1996-12 Established in 1911, The Rotarian is the official magazine of Rotary International and is circulated worldwide. Each issue contains feature articles, columns and departments about or of interest to Rotarians. Seventeen Nobel Prize winners and 19 Pulitzer Prize winners from Mahatma Gandhi to Kurt Vonnegut Jr have written for the magazine.     Jayme Tiomno William Dean Brewer, Alfredo Tiomno Tolmasquim, 2020-05-20 Jayme Tiomno 1920-2011 was one of the most influential Brazilian physicists of the 20th century, interacting with many of the renowned physicists of his time.
