Women Without Men Donald J. Greiner, 1993 Donald J Greiner's provocative new study evaluates the fiction of ten contemporary female novelists to ask questions about gender relations in American fiction Looking closely at the reaction of female writers to what Greiner describes as a central paradigm of American literature men bonding in the wilderness in an attempt to escape women and the social restrictions they represent Greiner contends that female novelists have not only adopted the venerable model but also adapted it so that women venture into the wilderness while excluding men from the quest Greiner first shows how such contemporary white male novelists as Frederick Busch John Irving and Larry Woiwode modify the literary model established by Cooper Melville and Twain to include women in the bonding process He then argues that recent female novelists are not so eager to allow males into the wilderness or to bond with them Rather than facilitate a closing of the gender gap many contemporary female writers insist on separating the sexes Greiner frames his analysis with discussions of prominent feminist literary theorists and feminist psychologists including Carolyn Heilbrun Rachel Brownstein Nancy Chodorow Janice Raymond and Judith Kegan Gardiner From close readings of recent novels by Gloria Naylor Marianne Wiggins Joan Didion Diane Johnson Marilynne Robinson Mona Simpson Hilma Wolitzer Meg Wolitzer Joan Chase and Lisa Alther Greiner finds three significant differences in the way contemporary female novelists employ the quest plot the patriarchal text is not repudiated but revised to accommodate female characters who readily accept the traditional masculine call to the quest once outside the bounds of society female bonds do not always hold males are excluded from the bonding process To contrast the gender exclusivity favored by contemporary female writers Greiner ends his study with a discussion of bonding as portrayed by contemporary male novelist Douglas Ungar

Socrates and Aristophanes Leo Strauss, 1980 In one of his last books Socrates and Aristophanes Leo Strauss's examines the confrontation between Socrates and Aristophanes in Aristophanes comedies Looking at eleven plays Strauss shows that this confrontation is essentially one between poetry and philosophy and that poetry emerges as an autonomous wisdom capable of rivaling philosophy Strauss gives us an impressive addition to his life's work the recovery of the Great Tradition in political philosophy The problem the book proposes centers formally upon

Socrates As is typical of Strauss he raises profound issues with great courage He addresses a problem that has been inherent in Western life ever since Socrates execution the tension between reason and religion Thus we come to Aristophanes the great comic poet and his attack on Socrates in the play The Clouds Strauss translates it into the basic problem of the relation between poetry and philosophy and resolves this by an analysis of the function of comedy in the life of the city Stanley Parry National Review

The Global Novel and Capitalism in Crisis Treasa De Loughry, 2020-04-29 This book examines how contemporary global novels by Salman Rushdie David Mitchell Rana Dasgupta and Rachel Kushner have evolved new aesthetics to represent global economic and ecological crises Paying close attention to the interrelations between postcolonial world and global literatures this book argues that postcolonial literary studies cannot account for global crises that exceed the national and anti colonial Advocating an interdisciplinary framework informed by a synthesis of materialist literary theory with world systems theory combining Fredric Jameson and Georg Luk cs with Giovanni Arrighi and Jason W Moore this book examines how global literatures metabolise not only socioeconomic conditions but also transformations in the world ecology and emergent developmental and epochal crises of capitalism

In the Beginning was the Deed Harry Redner, 2024-07-26 Now that the collective death of mankind has become a possibility no other thought can remain unimpaired Harry Redner traces historically the onset of this acute state of Nihilism from what might be called the Faustian revolution symbolized by Faust s pronouncement In the beginning was the Deed Redner reflects on the passage of the three main Fausts from Marlowe s to Goethe s to Thomas Mann s and this reflection serves as the dramatic metaphor for a review of the relationship of Progress to Nihilism in modern civilization Starting with an exposition of the key Faustian thinkers Marx Nietzsche Wittgenstein and Heidegger the book proceeds by examining the dominant modern ideas on Man Time and Nihilism with reference to Foucault Derrida and Althusser It focuses on Language which is a key preoccupation of all these thinkers but has not yet been taken far enough to afford a basis for the explanation of fundamental changes in civilization Language in its creative and destructive functions as constituting both the conscious and unconscious of a culture is reconceived so as to account for the hidden link between Progress and Nihilism The author then explores sociologically the dominant aspects of Progress in terms of the ideas of Weber Adorno and Marcuse on Technology Subjectivity and Activism Finally an extensive literary study of the three main Fausts concludes with a coda on the future of music In the Beginning Was the Deed is lucid and direct tinged with wry humor Redner represent Man in the nuclear age and reflects on that representation seeking to comprehend our era draw ethical and political conclusions and explore action as a response to the threat of annihilation This title is part of UC Press s Voices Revived program which commemorates University of California Press s mission to seek out and cultivate the brightest minds and give them voice reach and impact Drawing on a backlist dating to 1893 Voices Revived makes high quality peer reviewed scholarship accessible once again using print on demand technology This title was originally published in 1982

Transmodern Literatures in the 21st Century Claus-Peter

Neumann, Pilar Royo-Grasa, 2025-09-30 Transmodern Literatures in the 21st Century Of f Limits offers an in depth examination of how transmodern literatures in English over the last two decades have addressed the phenomenon of the limit. The 14 chapters that make up the volume examine how geographical racial ethnical sociocultural generical ontological epistemological and other limits are articulated transgressed and reconfigured in recent narratives by authors writing in a wide variety of transmodern trends such as Afro and Africanfuturism Young Adult feminist science fiction food fiction air travel fiction the networked novel and future narratives amongst others. They thereby expose and challenge hierarchised binary dichotomies as Euro and Anthropocentric exclusionary discursive constructs that have kept non hegemonic voices off limits. To counter the detrimental effects of the neoliberal grand narrative of globalisation the chapters as well as the narratives of the limit they analyse emphasise an urgent need for inclusiveness relationality and communality. Female

A Complete Greek and English Lexicon of the Poems of Homer and the Homeridæ ... Translated, with Corrections and Additions, by H. Smith Gottlieb Christian CRUSIUS,1871 Death, Men, and Modernism Ariela Freedman,2003 First Published in 2003 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company The Cyclopædia, Or, Universal Dictionary of Arts, Sciences, and Literature Abraham Rees,1819 Men in War Andreas Latzko,2019-11-29 In Men in War Andreas Latzko presents a poignant exploration of the psychological and emotional landscapes of soldiers during World War I Written in a modernist style the narrative captures the stark realities of warfare moving beyond mere battlefield heroics to investigate themes of fear mortality and the disillusionment of the human spirit Latzko deftly employs vivid imagery and evocative language immersing the reader in the harrowing experiences of men grappling with the chaos of combat The work stands as a significant contribution to war literature reflecting a post Victorian shift where the valorization of heroism gives way to a more nuanced understanding of the impacts of war on the individual psyche Andreas Latzko an Austrian author and veteran of the war himself draws upon his personal experiences to lend authenticity and urgency to his narrative His background as a pacifist and a member of the anti war movement profoundly informs the thematic core of Men in War allowing readers to engage with the moral complexities of conflict Latzko s unique perspective provides a critical commentary on the societal glorification of military valor during a period marked by immense suffering I highly recommend Men in War to readers seeking a deep and introspective look at the human costs of conflict Latzko s masterful storytelling combines profound philosophical inquiry with raw emotional power making it an essential read for anyone interested in the complexities of war trauma and humanity This book invites reflection not only on the nature of warfare but also on the shared experiences of those who endure its brutality The Foundations of Social Order R. J. Rushdoony,2009-11-06 The Foundations of Social Order was and remains the most unique book ever written in the history of Christendom Nothing like it has been written before and nothing like it has been written since Christian and non Christian historians have generally agreed on at least one thing about creeds and history they are not connected in any meaningful comprehensive way A few non Christian historians Harold Berman and his Law and Revolution being a good example have mentioned that the Christian creeds have been instrumental in shaping the legal views and therefore the legal structure of the West But a general study of how the creeds formed the West and its unique outlook has always been lacking the reason being that both Christian and non Christian authors are eager to constrain the significance of the creeds to the church and the history of theology Even Philip Schaff in his three volume work The Creeds of Christendom confines their value and use to the church. The view of the creeds has been dualistic: creeds were separated from history and history was left to follow its own course independent from the development of Christian theology and the perfection of the faith of the saints. Gods Without Reason C.
