Endocrine and Metabolic Effects on Maternal-fetal and Neonatal Outcomes Huixia Yang, Moshe Hod, Jie Yan, Cuilin Zhang, 2024-07-10

Pregnancy is a complex state with many endocrine and metabolic challenges to a woman's physiology. Inappropriate maternal endocrine and metabolic changes such as obesity, hyperglycemia, hyperlipidemia, and hypothyroidism may lead to short term and long term complications in the mother and offspring. This not only affects population health but also imposes a huge social and economic burden accompanied by significant direct and indirect public health costs. Therefore, the study of endocrine and metabolic effects on maternal fetal and neonatal outcomes is an especially important research field. These studies will lead to new approaches to predicting metabolic diseases in pregnancy and provide new solutions and effective interventions to prevent or delay those related diseases. Furthermore, they will reveal unknown pathophysiological mechanisms of inappropriate maternal endocrine and metabolic changes during pregnancy and their implications on short term and long term complications in the mother and offspring. This could lead to updated diagnosis and treatment strategies for women with endocrine and metabolic diseases during pregnancy. The proposed Research Topic intends to evaluate the pathophysiological mechanisms of inappropriate maternal endocrine and metabolic changes during pregnancy and their implications on short term and long term complications in the mother and offspring. The evolving trends in prediction, diagnosis, prevention, and treatment strategies of endocrine and metabolic diseases during pregnancy are also encouraged. In addition, the goal of this research topic is to uncover the characteristics of maternal endocrine and metabolic changes in special populations like twins, women with obesity, gestational diabetes mellitus, pregnancy hypothyroidism, etc. Actex
