The 2006 elections will be remembered as the year when the center of power in American politics shifted from traditional top down central broadcasters to new bottom up decentralized activists in the blogosphere and netroots. The authors give firsthand accounts of the burgeoning power of the netroots to determine the outcome of political contests most notably as when the national balance of power was tipped by Jim Webb's rag tag army of bloggers and netroots activists who provoked and exposed the gaffe that proved fatal to George Allen's senatorial bid. Veteran online campaigners Feld and Wilcox recount and analyze many other political campaigns in which netroots activism was decisive or instructive including U.S. House Majority Leader Tom DeLay's downfall, Tim Kaine's election as Virginia governor, Howard Dean's and Wes Clark's presidential campaigns, Ned Lamont's primary victory over Joe Lieberman. The authors conclude with an assessment of the prospects for Netroots 2.0. Will the netroots hordes crash the party or will they work out an uneasy cohabitation with the traditional party power elite?
