Cupchik,2016-07-28 Gerald C Cupchik builds a bridge between science and the humanities arguing that interactions between mind and body in everyday life are analogous to relations between subject matter and style in art According to emotional phase theory emotional reactions emerge in a perfect storm whereby meaningful situations evoke bodily memories that unconsciously shape and unify the experience Similarly in expressionist or impressionist painting an evocative visual style can spontaneously colour the experience and interpretation of subject matter Three basic situational themes encompass complementary pairs of primary emotions attachment happiness sadness assertion fear anger and absorption interest disgust Action episodes in which a person adapts to challenges or seeks to realize goals benefit from energizing bodily responses which focus attention on the situation while providing feedback in the form of pleasure or pain regarding success or failure In high representational paintings style is transparent making it easier to fluently identify subject matter      Heart to Heart Brian Parkinson,2019-11-07 Positions emotion in the social world by arguing that its central function is to align relations between people      The Oxford Handbook of the Physiology of Interpersonal Communication Lindsey Aloia,Amanda Denes,John P. learning to explain how values are socially transmitted      Literature and Moral Feeling Patrick Colm Hogan, 2022-05-05

An influential body of recent work on moral psychology has stressed the interconnections among ethics narrative and empathy Yet as Patrick Colm Hogan argues this work is so vague in its use of the term narrative as to be almost substanceless and this vagueness is in large part due to the neglect of literary study Extending his previous work on universal story structures Hogan argues that we can transform ill defined intuitions about narrative and ethics into explicit and systematic accounts of the deep connections between moral attitudes and narratives These connections are in turn inseparable from empathy a concept that Hogan proceeds to clarify and defend against a number of widely read critiques In the course of the book Hogan develops and illustrates his arguments through analyses of global narratives constructing illuminating ethical interpretations of literary works ranging from Shakespeare to Chinese drama and the Bhagavad Gita
