Drones Serge A. Wich, Lian Pin Koh, 2018-05-31 Increasing numbers of ecologists and conservation biologists have begun to explore the use of drone technology to obtain accurate and up to date data on the distribution and density of species as well as the threats to their habitats in their ongoing attempts to conserve and monitor biodiversity Conservation drones are low cost autonomous and operator friendly unmanned aerial vehicles that can be used for surveying mapping and monitoring both habitat and biodiversity They are fast becoming a valuable complement to ground based surveys and satellite imagery for a wide range of ecological and conservation applications The authors pioneered the use of conservation drones for the purpose of monitoring orangutan populations in Southeast Asia They subsequently founded ConservationDrones.org to share their knowledge of building and using drones with colleagues in the wider environmental community This website has proved highly popular and this book aims to further build capacity to use drones and inspire others to adapt emerging technologies for practical conservation Narratives of Qualitative Research Josh Tenenbergh, 2024-05-21 Narratives of Qualitative

Research uses a novel form of writing about how to do qualitative research called a praxis narrative Each narrative is told from the author's perspective in carrying out one of his past research studies in the social sciences Told chronologically and in a first person voice the narratives position the reader alongside the narrator so as to vicariously experience how research happens in its situated particulars Rather than a set of idealizations and universalized pronouncements the author reveals what really goes on when one is in the thick of complex and challenging research studies the points of trouble along with the successes This will be relevant to researchers who have already undertaken one or more empirical research studies though not necessarily using qualitative approaches and now find themselves facing something new a new analytic method a new theoretical lens a new form of data collection a new domain of research questions a new rhetorical approach This requires letting go of the secure handholds of prescribed methods and responding to the contingencies that arise in the midst of the research The reader is invited to follow along as the author makes visible his praxis of qualitative research Unlike more conventional texts in this unique alternative the reader can follow the author's journey through his research studies as a way to reorient their conception of qualitative research and their own praxis of it This is fascinating reading for qualitative researchers and students taking qualitative research courses across the social sciences education and behavioural sciences

The English Catalogue of Books Sampson Low, 1898 Volumes for 1898 1968 include a directory of publishers All Hands, 1949 Popular Culture as Pedagogy Kaela Jubas, Nancy Taber, Tony Brown, 2015-10-30 Grounded in the field of adult education this international compilation offers a range of critical perspectives on popular culture as a form of pedagogy Its fundamental premise is that adults learn in multiple ways including through their consumption of fiction As scholars have asserted for decades people are not passive consumers of media rather we re make our own meanings as we accept resist and challenge cultural representations At a time when attention often turns to new media the contributors to this collection continue to find old forms of popular culture important and worthy of study Television and movies the emphases in this book reflect aspects of consumers lives and can be powerful vehicles for helping adults see experience and inhabit the world in new and different ways This volume moves beyond conceptually oriented scholarship taking a decidedly research oriented focus It offers examples of textual and discursive analyses of television shows and films that portray varied contexts of adult learning and suggests how participants can be brought into adult education research in this area In so doing it provides compelling evidence about the complexity politics and multidimensionality of adult teaching and learning Using a range of television shows and movies as exemplars chapters relate popular culture to globalization identity health and health care and education The book will be of great use to instructors students and researchers located in adult education cultural studies women s and gender studies cultural sociology and other fields who are looking for innovative ways to explore social life as experienced and imagined Catalog of Copyright Entries.
