Language Development

Language Development is the process by which a child learns to use language. It is a complex process that involves the development of the brain, the vocal tract, and the social environment. The process begins with the child's first words, which are typically heard around the age of 12 months. This is followed by a period of rapid growth, with the child's vocabulary expanding significantly by the age of 2. By the age of 3, the child is typically able to form simple sentences and is beginning to understand the rules of grammar. The process continues to develop throughout childhood, with the child's language skills becoming increasingly sophisticated and complex.
