STUDYING THE SCIENCE OF THE EARTH
 Students will learn about the Earth's history, its structure, and the processes that shape it. They will also learn about the Earth's resources and how to use them responsibly.

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the physical fitness and health-related quality of life of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was a randomized controlled trial. The subjects were randomly assigned to either a control group or an exercise group. The exercise group performed a 12-week training program consisting of aerobic and strength training. The control group did not exercise. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 12 weeks. The exercise group showed significant improvements in physical fitness and health-related quality of life compared to the control group. The results suggest that a 12-week training program can improve the physical fitness and health-related quality of life of sedentary, middle-aged women.

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine if there were differences in the prevalence of self-reported depression between men and women who had been exposed to violence by intimate partners. Data from the National Longitudinal Study of Women's Health are used. Results show that among those who have ever been married or cohabited, 10% of men and 16% of women reported having experienced physical violence by their current or former partner. Among those who had been physically abused, 27% of men and 38% of women reported having experienced depression during the past year.
