Revisiting Bilateral Investment Treaties in the 21st Century. A Kenyan and South African Experience Sharon Mutsaers, 2017-09 Bilateral investment treaties BITs signed prior to the 21st century are problematic Some countries with BITs signed during this period have since reviewed those BITs and taken action to address the disadvantages the BITs held for the host nation or have either resorted to eradicating some of their BITs In particular developing countries that signed BITs with developed nations seem to be disproportionately disadvantaged in these agreements This research highlights Kenya's current BIT situation and compares it in light of another developing country South Africa with regards to its BIT experience Given that South Africa has undergone an extensive BIT review process and moves to change some of these BITs this study compares and contrasts the Kenyan and South African experience The study highlights the possible lessons that could be learnt from the South African BIT review experience and provides recommendations for the Kenyan government regarding its outdated BITs The lessons and recommendations benefit not only Kenya but also other countries that are still to review their BITs as it adds to the literature on why it is important for countries with such BITs to revisit them and how they can go about the review mechanism best In addition the study is also significant as far as it raises awareness of the use and effects of BITs thereby enabling countries that enter into such agreements to make informed decisions

Proportionality, Reasonableness and Standards of Review in International Investment Law and Arbitration Valentina Vadi, 2018-04-27 International investment law is one of the most dynamic fields of international law and yet it has been criticised for failing to strike a fair balance between private and public interests In this valuable contribution to the current debate Valentina Vadi examines the merits and pitfalls of arbitral tribunals use of the concepts of proportionality and reasonableness to review the compatibility of a state s regulatory actions with its obligations under international investment law The Law of Interactions Between International Organizations Henner Gött,2021-02-02

The book analyses how international law addresses interactions between international organizations In labour governance these interactions are ubiquitous They offer each organization an opportunity to promote its model of labour governance yet simultaneously expose it to adverse influence from others The book captures this ambivalence and examines the capacity of international law to mitigate it Based on detailed case studies of mutual influence between the International Labour Organization the World Bank and the Council of Europe the book offers an in depth analysis of the pertinent law and its key challenges both at institutional and inter organizational level The author envisions a law of inter organizational interactions as a normative framework structuring interactions and enhancing the effectiveness and legitimacy of multi institutional governance Drug Control and Human Rights in International Law Richard Lines,2017-06-29 Human rights violations occurring as a consequence of drug control and enforcement are a growing concern and raise questions of treaty interpretation and of the appropriate balancing of concomitant obligations within the drug control and human rights treaty regimes Tracing the evolution of international drug control law since 1909 this book explores the tensions between the regime s self described humanitarian aspirations and its suppression of a common human behaviour as a form of evil Drawing on domestic regional and international examples and case law it posits the development of a dynamic human rights based interpretative approach to resolve tensions and conflicts between the regimes in a manner that safeguards human rights Highlighting an important and emerging area of human rights inquiry from an international legal perspective this book is a key resource for those working and studying in this field Mega-Regional Trade Agreements Thilo

This book examines the regulatory framework for foreign direct investments most notably the bilateral investment treaties which provide several guarantees that minimise the exposure of risks to foreign investors in a host State. Most States have recognised that one of the ways they can improve their economic growth is by providing effective mechanisms for the attraction of foreign investments. In this regard, foreign direct investments have become a key element in the strategic vision for advancing any national economy. The book examines guarantees which have the capacity to impinge on the economic sovereignty of a State, raising questions such as: are host States obliged to comply with the rights of foreign investors to free capital repatriation in the face of economic difficulties? What power does a host State have to regulate and impose capital controls that are deleterious to the rights of a foreign investor? This book argues that policies aimed at increasing foreign direct investment need to extend beyond investment liberalisation to strike a balance between the regulatory rights of a State and the legitimate expectations of foreign investors. Advancing the discussion on the necessity of balancing the needs of foreign investors with those of the host community and exploring the power asymmetry present in treaty negotiations, this book will be of interest to students, academics and practitioners with an interest in international investment law.
