ROS engineers With this book you ll learn how to simulate a robot in a virtual environment and achieve desired behavior in equivalent real world scenarios This book starts with an introduction to GoPiGo3 and the sensors and actuators with which it is equipped You ll then work with GoPiGo3 s digital twin by creating a 3D model from scratch and running a simulation in ROS using Gazebo Next the book will show you how to use GoPiGo3 to build and run an autonomous mobile robot that is aware of its surroundings Finally you ll find out how a robot can learn tasks that have not been programmed in the code but are acquired by observing its environment You ll even cover topics such as deep learning and reinforcement learning By the end of this robot programming book you ll be well versed with the basics of building specific purpose applications in robotics and developing highly intelligent autonomous robots from scratch What you will learn Get to grips with developing environment aware robots Gain insights into how your robots will react in physical environments Break down a desired behavior into a chain of robot actions Relate data from sensors with context to produce adaptive responses Apply reinforcement learning to allow your robot to learn by trial and error Implement deep learning to enable your robot to recognize its surroundings Who this book is for If you are an engineer looking to build AI powered robots using the ROS framework this book is for you Robotics enthusiasts and hobbyists who want to develop their own ROS robotics projects will also find this book useful Knowledge of Python and or C programming and familiarity with single board computers such as Raspberry Pi is necessary to get the most out of this book

Australian National Bibliography: 1992 National Library of Australia,1988

Simulation, Modeling, and Programming for Autonomous Robots Noriako Ando,Stephen Balakirsky,Thomas Hemker,Monica Reggiani,Oskar von Stryk,2010-11-11 Why are the many highly capable autonomous robots that have been promised for novel applications driven by society industry and research not available day despite the tremendous progress in robotics science and systems achieved during the last decades Unfortunately steady improvements in speci c robot abilities and robot hardware have not been matched by corresponding robot performance in real world environments This is mainly due to the lack of advancements in robot software that master the development of robotic systems of ever increasing complexity. In addition, fundamental open problems are still awaiting sound answers while the development of new robotics applications suffers from the lack of widely used tools, libraries, and algorithms that are redesigned in a modular and performant manner with standardized interfaces. Simulation environments are playing a major role not only in reducing development time and cost, e.g., by systematic software or hardware in the loop testing of robot performance, but also in exploring new types of robots and applications. However, their use may still be regarded with skepticism. Seamless migration of code using robot simulators to real world systems is still a rare circumstance due to the complexity of robot world sensor and actuator modeling. These challenges drive the quest for the next generation of methodologies and tools for robot development. The objective of the International Conference on Simulation Modeling and Programming for Autonomous Robots (SIMPAR) is to offer a unique forum for these topics and to bring together researchers from academia and industry to identify and solve the key issues necessary to ease the development of increasingly complex robot software.
