Deborah J. Tippins,Michael P. Mueller,Michiel van Eijck,Jennifer D Adams,2010-08-05 As the first book to explore the confluence of three emerging yet critical fields of study this work sets an exacting standard The editors aim was to produce the most authoritative guide for ecojustice place based education and indigenous knowledge in education Aimed at a wide audience that includes but is not restricted to science educators and policymakers Cultural Studies and Environmentalism starts from the premise that schooling is a small part of the larger educational domain in which we live and learn Informed by this overarching notion the book opens up ways in which home grown talents narratives and knowledge can be developed and eco region awareness and global relationships can be facilitated Incorporating a diversity of perspectives that include photography poetry and visual art the work provides a nuanced lens for evaluating educational problems and community conditions while protecting and conserving the most threatened and vulnerable narratives Editors and contributors share the view that the impending loss of these narratives should be discussed much more widely than is currently the case and that both teachers and children can take on some of the responsibility for their preservation The relevance of ecojustice to this process is clear Ecojustice philosophy is a way of learning about how we frame or perceive the world around us and why that matters Although it is not synonymous with social or environmental justice the priorities of ecojustice span the globe in the same way It incorporates a deep recognition of the appropriateness and significance of learning from place based experiences and indigenous knowledge systems rather than depending on some urgent ecological crises to advocate for school and societal change With a multiplicity of diverse voices coming together to explore its key themes this book is an important starting point for educators in many arenas It brings into better focus a vital role for the Earth s ecosystems in the context of ecosociocultural theory and participatory democracy alike Encompassing theoretical empirical and experiential standpoints concerning place based knowledge systems this unique book argues for a transformation of science education s intellectual tradition of thinking that emphasizes individual cognition In its place the book offers a wisdom tradition of

Jansen, D. Mortimer, 1999-04-15 This is a forward looking clinical reference of definitive authority on today's headline controversies surrounding in vitro fertilization IVF and reproductive genetics Written by leading experts from medicine education psychology ethics counseling and other disciplines studying fertility and genetics the book contains nearly 70 chapters in seven sections The introductory section deals with biology business morality and society in IVF and reproductive genetics other sections focus on IVF outcomes personal ethics and business biology of the egg sperm and embryo implantation IVF and society and such 21st century topics as space travel and human reproduction the disappearing male and the future of motherhood Includes bibliographic references and index Research Awards Index, 1989 Systems immunology to advance vaccine development Joe Hou, Helder Nakaya, 2024-12-24 Vaccines are one of the most effective methods for preventing and minimizing the spread of infectious diseases and are thus considered a cornerstone of public health However despite the successful development of vaccines that induce a protective immune response most of the vaccines still being administered today have been developed empirically with limited immunological insight A deeper understanding of the mechanisms leading to a protective immune response is greatly needed to develop new vaccines for antigenically variable pathogens such as the influenza virus and to control infectious disease outbreaks such as COVID 19 This includes studying the individual components involved as well as the complex interactions between them Deciphering the T Cell Response in SARS-CoV-2 Infection Alessio Mazzoni, Sara De Biasi, Pia Kvistborg, Laura Maggi, 2024-07-22 COVID 19 is a recently emerged infectious disease caused by the novel coronavirus SARS CoV 2 The immune system has a primary role in pathogen elimination and a rapid and effective response can limit disease severity In this context T cells play the major role in cell mediated adaptive immune response The protective role of CD4 and CD8 T cells has been inferred from studies on patients who recovered from SARS and MERS and accumulating data are now showing their relevance in SARS CoV 2 infection Moreover memory T cells induced by previous pathogens can shape the susceptibility to and the clinical severity of other infections but the complete picture has yet to be elucidated If the virus is not rapidly eliminated COVID 19 may progress towards a secondary inflammatory phase that is directly responsible for a worsening in clinical symptoms and immune system impairment Besides marked lymphopenia COVID 19 patients T cell compartment displays several alterations involving different subpopulations of T cells in terms of phenotype metabolic profile and functionality

introduction and conclusion It is cogently represented in each chapter and section and measured against the material considered A remarkable feature is the use of aptly selected canonical literature to inform the argument These references run from Hesse s The Glass Bead Game in the abstract to Joyce s Ulysses in the conclusion They include excerpts from and discussion about Bergman Borges Boswell Tolstoy de Beauvoir Chekhov Dostoevsky Samuel Johnson Aristotle Orwell Osler Chaucer Schweitzer Shakespeare Thorwalds Kafka and William Carlos Williams Such references are used not merely as an artistic and decorative leitmotif but become a critical narrative element and another complex and rich layer to this work The breadth and quality of the references are testimony to the author s clear understanding of the modern law and literature movement This work provides the basis of a medical school course As many medical educators as possible should also be encouraged to read this work for the insights it will give them into using their own personal life narratives and those of their patients to inform their decision making process This thesis will also be of value to the judiciary whose members are often called upon to make normatively difficult judgments about medical care and medical rules The human rights material leads to a hopeful view of an international movement toward a universal synthesis between medical ethics and human rights in all doctor patient relationships Cumulated Index Medicus ,1982
