

In this practical book, you will find the essential features that need to be taken into consideration during gestation, calving and the postpartum period in order to deal with calving successfully.

3 Physiology of calving: normal delivery

Stages of normal delivery

Calving takes place in three well-defined stages:

1. Distension stage
2. Partial expulsive stage
3. Effortful expulsive stage

Stage	Duration	Signs	Comments
Distension	6-10 hours	Mucus, micturition, reduced feed intake. Usually, the fetal membranes can be seen in the vulva.	Gradually becomes protracted in the pelvic canal.
Partial expulsion	Usually 1-2 hours (Rarely 30 minutes or less)	Abdominal contractions that increase in frequency, intensity, regularity, rupture of the foetal membranes and rupture of the foetal skin.	Placenta being pulled out.
Effortful expulsion	Within 10-15 minutes	Rupture of the placenta.	Placenta being pulled out.

1. Distension stage

When the cervix is sufficiently dilated, the foetal membranes can be seen protruding from the vulva.

- Cervix progressively dilates until approximately the size of a fist.
- The position of the cervix is up near 10 and 10 hours before the foetus is born.
- Characterised by a specific foaming, micturition, animal is restless, no interest in feed, no rumination.
- Repeated series of abdominal contractions of 10-20 minutes.
- During contractions, which are slow, the uterine contents are pushed down.
- When the cervix is sufficiently dilated, the foetal membranes can be seen protruding from the vulva.

2. Partial expulsive stage

- Abdominal contractions start as the calf's head passes over the cervix.
- Contractions last about 10-20 minutes, but longer and more intense in intensity.
- During periods, especially before, when the calf is in the birth canal.
- Increased in intensity during the rupture of the foetal membranes. The "foetal squawking".

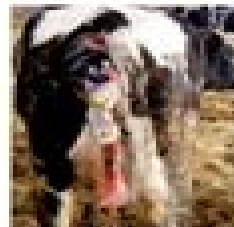

3 Physiology of calving: normal delivery

Presentations

Definitions

- Presentation indicates the relation between the long axis of the foetus and the plane of the pelvic canal.
- Position indicates which surface of the foetus is in contact with the pelvic canal (dorsal, ventral or lateral).
- Presentation indicates the position of the foetus with head, in extension or flexion.

In a normal spontaneous delivery, two presentations are possible:

Extension

This is the most common position of the calf.

- Normal presentation - it is born "head first".
- Extension - the foetus is born with its head extended forward.
- Flexion - the foetus is born with its head flexed back.

Flexion

Although this is considered a normal position, it is less frequent and usually requires a longer delivery, and may increase the mortality of the calf.

- Normal presentation - it is born "head first".
- Extension - the foetus is born with its head extended forward.
- Flexion - the foetus is born with its head flexed back.
