How Sex Got Screwed Up: The Ghosts that Haunt Our Sexual Pleasure - Book Two Jon Knowles, 2019-03-31 The ghosts that haunt our sexual pleasure were born in the Stone Age Sex and gender taboos were used by tribes to differentiate themselves from one another These taboos filtered into the lives of Bronze and Iron Age men and women who lived in city states and empires For the early Christians all sex play was turned into sin instilled with guilt and punished severely With the invention of sin came the construction of women as subordinate beings to men Despite the birth of romance in the late middle ages Renaissance churches held inquisitions to seek out and destroy sex sinners all of whom it saw as heretics The Age of Reason saw the demise of these inquisitions But it was doctors who would take over the roles of priests and ministers as sex became defined by discourses of crime degeneracy and sickness The middle of the 20th century saw these medical and religious teachings challenged for the first time as activists such as Alfred Kinsey and Margaret Sanger sought to carve out a place for sexual freedom in society However strong opposition to their beliefs and the growing exploitation of sex by the media at the close of the century would ultimately shape 21st century sexual ambivalence Book Two of this two part publication traces the history of sex from the Victorian Era to present day Interspersed with personal hauntings from his own life and the lives of friends and relatives Knowles reveals how historical discourses of sex continue to haunt us today This book is a page turner in simple and plain language about how sex got screwed up for millennia For Knowles if we know the history of sex we can get over it

Producing the Acceptable Sex Worker Gwyn Easterbrook-Smith,2022-02-25 Producing the Acceptable Sex Worker considers how sex work is produced in news media narratives a site where much of the general public draws its understanding of the industry in the absence of lived interaction with it Taking New Zealand as a case study this book considers an emerging discourse of acceptability for some sex workers primarily those who do low volume indoor work Their acceptability is established in comparison with other kinds of sex workers resulting in a redistribution but not a reduction of stigma The conditions attached to acceptability reflect persistent anxieties about sex work workers who are acceptable must give the impression that the sexual labour of the job is enjoyable and virtually indistinguishable from their personal life eliding the work involved Unacceptable workers have existing marginalisations magnified by their association with the industry with migrant sex workers produced as devious or exploited and transgender women s involvement with the industry used to deny them the right to public space The conditions attached to acceptability reveal how neoliberal discourses of choice desire authenticity and personal responsibility inform the formation of sex work in the public eye
