

INVERSE FUNCTIONS INQUIRY-BASED LESSON

INVERSE FUNCTIONS

Name: _____

The inverse of a function f , or f^{-1} , will undo the function of f on the input, x . For example, if $f(x) = 2x$, then f has multiplied x by two. To undo that function, the inverse of f must divide x by two. Therefore, $f^{-1}(x) = \frac{x}{2}$.

Knowledge Quest:

1. Suppose $f(x) = 3x - 1$.

- In words, describe what the function is doing to x . Hint: Pay attention to the order of operations.
- In words, describe what the inverse of this function needs to do to x . Hint: Pay attention to the order of operations. Think about putting on your socks and shoes. How do you undo that process?
- Use part b) to write an equation for $f^{-1}(x)$. Check with your teacher before proceeding.

Graph the functions on the axes provided.
