Myers,2009-09-28 This version of the main text breaks down the chapters into shorter modules for more accessibility The smaller chunks allow students to better grasp and explore psychological concepts The modules also allow more flexibility in teaching as cross references to other chapters have been replaced with brief explanations Organizational Behavior Fred Luthans,Brett C. Luthans,Kyle W. Luthans,2021-01-01

Contrary to the common saying we do want you to judge this new edition of Organizational Behavior by its front cover. Specifically featured is that this is the 14th edition; it takes an Evidence Based Approach and similar to the previous edition there are now three Luthans authors. This 14th edition is based on the foundation provided by the first mainline text which has become the classic for the study and understanding of organizational behavior. However, by taking an evidence based approach, this insures that even though a classic, this new edition adds the most recent and relevant research to the most extensive up to date reference base of any organizational behavior text. By adding the two closely related authors, professor Luthans literally pumps new blood into the sustainability of this classic text. By Fred Luthans. Importantly, Fred has recently been recognized with 1 Lifetime Achievement Award in Organizational Behavior, 2 Top 1% of Citation Count of all researchers in the world, and 3 the 1 most cited author in Organizational Behavior textbooks. Finally, this new edition recognizes that even though the theoretical framework and coverage largely remains, the context of organizational behavior is rapidly changing. This new edition reflects the New Age environment but still holds to the premise that in today's organizations, success and competitive advantage still comes from the understanding, prediction, and effective management of human resources. With this new edition, we invite you to continue the never ending journey guided by the best organizational behavior theory, research, and application.

Deep Secrets Niobe Way, 2013-05-06. Boys are emotionally illiterate and don't want intimate friendships. In this empirically grounded challenge to our stereotypes about boys and men, Niobe Way reveals the intense intimacy among teenage boys, especially during early and middle adolescence. Boys not only share their deepest secrets and feelings with their closest male friends; they claim that without them they would go wacko. Yet as boys become men, they become distrustful, lose these friendships, and feel isolated and alone. Drawing from hundreds of interviews conducted throughout adolescence with black, Latino, white, and Asian American boys, Deep Secrets reveals the ways in which we have been telling ourselves a false story about boys' friendships and human nature. Boys' descriptions of their male friendships sound more like something out of Love Story than Lord of the Flies. Yet in late adolescence, boys feel they have to man up by becoming stoic and independent. Vulnerable emotions and intimate friendships are for girls and gay men. No homo becomes their mantra. These findings are alarming given what we know about links between friendships and health and even longevity. Rather than a boy crisis, Way argues that boys are experiencing a crisis of connection because they live in a culture where human needs and capacities are given a sex female and a sexuality gay, and thus discouraged for those who are neither. Way argues that the solution lies with exposing the inaccuracies of our gender stereotypes and fostering these critical relationships and fundamental human skills.

Psychology and Christianity Eric L. Johnson, 2009-08-20. How are Christians to understand and undertake the discipline of psychology? This question has been of keen interest because of the importance we place on a correct understanding of human nature. This collection of essays, edited by Eric Johnson and Stanton Jones, offers four different models for the relationship between Christianity and psychology.

Teaching for Christian Wisdom Samy Estafanos, 2018-08-20 In many ways Christian education in the Presbyterian Church in Egypt was deeply influenced by public education in Egypt One of the negative consequences of such influence is the significant lack of developing and using critical thinking as a basic element of the process While multiple factors educational and theological contribute to forming it this problem manifests itself in many ways The present research deals with the lack of critical thinking as a central problematic reality of the Christian education process in the Presbyterian Church in Egypt In order to illuminate and address this problematic situation Richard Osmer's understanding of Christian education as practical theology is used to bring into dialogue American philosopher psychologist and educator John Dewey and reformer and theologian John Calvin In light of this dialogue not only the lack of critical thinking but also multiple other dimensions of the problematic situation of Christian education in the Presbyterian Church in Egypt are illuminated Lack of democracy lack of the use of experience lack of creative pedagogies lack of practical reason and lack of theology from the process are some of these dimensions Adapting Osmer's comprehensive approach to Christian education as practical theology Samy Estafanos proposes a holistic approach towards Christian education that aims at transforming education into a reconciling process
