

Expository Essay: Rubric

Category	4	3	2	1
Introduction (Organization)	The introduction 'hooks' the audience, contains a good topic sentence, and states the supporting details of the essay.	The introduction clearly states the main topic and previews the structure of the essay, but is not particularly inviting to the reader.	The introduction states the main topic, but does not adequately preview the structure of the essay nor is it particularly inviting to the reader.	There is no clear introduction of the main topic or the structure of the essay.
Body (Organization)	Details from introduction are presented in a logical order and each topic is equally supported with supportive evidence.	Details are placed in a logical order. However, each topic has differing amounts of support; some topics have more evidence than others.	Some details are not in a logical or expected order, and this distracts the reader.	Many details are not in a logical or expected order. There is little sense that the writing is organized.
Conclusion (Organization)	The conclusion is strong and sums up the main idea and the details of the essay. This leaves the reader with a feeling that they understand what the writer is 'going off'.	The conclusion is recognizable and sums up almost all of the essay's work.	The conclusion is recognizable but does not sum up several topics well.	There is no conclusion, the paper just ends.
Conventions	Writer makes no mistakes in grammar, spelling, punctuation, and capitalization.	Writer makes 1-2 errors in grammar, spelling, punctuation, and capitalization.	Writer makes 3-4 errors in grammar, spelling, punctuation, and capitalization.	Writer exceeds 4 errors in grammar, spelling, punctuation, and capitalization.
Voice	The writer maintains a formal tone throughout the essay.	The writer maintains a formal tone most of the time.	The writer's tone is inconsistent throughout the essay.	The writer's tone is casual throughout the essay.

Mitchell,2018-11-02 The authentic storytelling process gives students the opportunity to include their heritage language and culture into the learning process at school Often students separate their heritage language and culture from the school culture They do this in order to survive the complexity of living in dual worlds or perspectives Belenky et al 1986 When teachers integrate the heritage language such as storytelling into the authentic literacy processes students find that their heritage language and culture has value They discover that their teachers encourage the traditional storytelling of their own heritage stories in the classrooms among their classmates This brings the dual perspective of living in two distinct worlds together The culturally responsive teachers help to merge both the home and school culture together through authentic literacy This book describes how culturally responsive teachers learn to navigate between the heritage languages of their students and the dominant language of their curriculum and instruction They know to ask questions such as Who are the storytellers in your home and what stories do they tell you This form of questioning opens up the thinking process that shows literacy comes in more forms and processes than just a book As culturally responsive teachers invite different forms of literacy to be shared in the classroom they bring the authentic lives of storytellers into their classroom The students can retell the stories that they were told by their storytellers Through this storytelling process both the culturally responsive teachers and the students inform them about who they are how they are connect with others and how they interdependent on others Students tell stories that inform them about who they are and how they are connected with others so they will know that they are human They can live in a world of possibilities where they are interconnected with literacy and interdependent with each other in order to be human They are describing what Greene 1995 described as looking into each other's eyes in order to encourage them to tell their stories about who they are and who they hope to be Using Assessments to Teach for Understanding Judith
