Oxford Business Group,2015-03-03 The country's location within the region and population of more than 50m will help it achieve growth with international analysts predicting Myanmar's economy to be worth up to 200bn by 2030 With elections set to take place in late 2015 the world is eagerly watching to see how things will unfold After spending decades as one of the most isolated and least developed countries in Asia Myanmar is emerging as one of the world's fastest growing economies Agriculture manufacturing and mining are some of Myanmar's top contributors to GDP which was forecast to reach 8.5% in FY2014-15 and FY2015-16 While foreign investment is accelerating there are ways in which it remains blocked As the country continues to reintegrate with the global economy continued reforms as well as the opening of more economic sectors to foreign investors will help unlock the country's potential How College Students Succeed Nicholas A.

Bowman,2023-07-03 Receiving a college education has perhaps never been more important than it is today While its personal societal and overall economic benefits are well documented too many college students fail to complete their postsecondary education As colleges and universities are investing substantial resources into efforts to counter these attrition rates and increase retention they are mostly unaware of the robust literature on student success that is often bounded in disciplinary silos The purpose of this book is to bring together in a single volume the extensive knowledge on college student success It includes seven chapters from authors who each synthesize the literature from their own field of study or perspective Each describes the theories models and concepts they use summarizes the key findings from their research and provides implications for practice policy and or research The disciplinary chapters offer perspectives from higher education public policy behavioral economics social psychology STEM sociology and critical and post structural theory South African Schooling: The Enigma of Inequality Nic Spaull,Jonathan D. Jansen,2019-11-05 This volume brings together many of South Africa's leading scholars of education and covers the full range of South African schooling from financing and policy reform to in depth discussions of literacy numeracy teacher development and curriculum change The book moves beyond a historical analysis and provides an inside view of the questions South African scholars are now grappling with Are there different and preferential equilibria we have not yet thought of or explored and if so what are they In practical terms how does one get to a more equitable distribution of teachers resources and learning outcomes While decidedly local these questions resonate throughout the developing world South Africa today is the most unequal country in the world The richest 10% of South Africans lay claim to 65% of national income and 90% of national wealth This is the largest 90/10 gap in the world and one that is reflected in the schooling system Two decades after apartheid it is still the case that the life chances of most South African children are determined not by their ability or the result of hard work and determination but instead by the colour of their skin the province of their birth and the wealth of their parents Looking back on almost three decades of democracy in South Africa it is this stubbornness of inequality and its patterns of persistence that demands explanation justification and analysis This is a landmark book on basic education in South Africa an essential volume for those interested in learning outcomes and their inequality in South Africa The various chapters present conceptually and empirically sophisticated analyses of learning outcomes across divisions of race class and place The book brings together the wealth of decades of research output from top quality researchers to explore what has improved what has not and why Prof Lant Pritchett Harvard University There is much wisdom in this collection from many of the best education analysts in South Africa No surprise that they conclude that without a large and sustained expansion in well trained teachers early childhood education and adequate school resources South Africa will continue to sacrifice its people's future to maintaining the privileges of the few Prof Martin Carnoy Stanford University Altogether one can derive from this very valuable volume if not an exact blueprint for the future then certainly at least a crucial and evidence based itinerary for the next few steps Dr Luis Crouch RTI

Contemporary Muslim Girlhoods in India Saba Hussain, 2019-06-06 Based on empirical research in India this book presents a post colonial feminist analysis of subjectivities available to Muslim girls and the ways in which they are inhabited and negotiated Examining government education policies together with the narratives of teachers and parents the author explores the manner in which gender class ethnicity and religion intersect both to confer certain subjectivities and to challenge or reinforce the conferred subjectivities A study of the imposition of subjectivities that label Muslim girls as economically subordinate and culturally different Contemporary Muslim Girlhoods in India analyses Muslim girls reconstructions of self through a combination of reflexivity resilience and agency and conformity Drawing on the thought of Pierre Bourdieu and Nancy Fraser this volume offers an original contribution to the study of gendered minorities institutions and relationships in post colonial contexts and an alternative to identitarian politics or cultural explanations of Muslim women s educational deprivation in India As such it will appeal to scholars of sociology and gender studies with interests in education class religion and identity

The Skills Balancing Act in Sub-Saharan Africa Omar Arias, David K. Evans, Indhira Santos, 2019-01-31 Despite strong recent economic growth Sub Saharan Africa has levels of economic transformation poverty reduction and skill development far below those of other regions Smart investments in developing skills aligned with the policy goals of productivity growth inclusion and adaptability can help to accelerate the region s economic transformation in the 21st century Sub Saharan Africa s growing working age population presents a major opportunity to increase shared prosperity Countries in the region have invested heavily in building skills public expenditure on education increased sevenfold over the past 30 years and more children are in school today than ever before Yet systems for building skills in this population have fallen short and these shortcomings significantly impede economic prospects In half of the countries fewer than two in every three children complete primary school even fewer reach and complete higher levels of education Learning outcomes have been persistently poor leading to substantial gaps in basic cognitive skills literacy and numeracy among children young people and adults The literacy rate of the adult population is below 50 percent in many countries functional literacy and numeracy rates are even lower Systemwide change is required to achieve significant progress Multiple agencies at the central and local levels are involved in skills development strategies making skills everyone's problem but no one's responsibility Policies and reforms need to build capacity for evidence based policies and create incentives to align the behaviors of all stakeholders with the pursuit of national skills development goals The Skills Balancing Act in Sub Saharan Africa Investing in Skills for Productivity Inclusivity and Adaptability lays out evidence to inform the policy choices that countries will make in skill investments Each chapter addresses a set of specific questions drawing on original analysis and synthesis of existing studies to explore key areas How the skills appropriate to each stage of the life cycle are acquired and what market and institutional failures affect skills formation What systems are needed for individuals to access these skills including family investments private sector institutions schools and other public programs How those systems can be strengthened How the most vulnerable individuals those who fall outside the standard systems and have missed critical building blocks in skills acquisition can be supported Countries will face trade offs often stark ones that will have distributional impacts and a bearing on their development path Committed leaders reform coalitions and well coordinated policies are essential for taking on the skills balancing act in Sub Saharan Africa

Randomistas Andrew Leigh, 2018-07-24 A fascinating account of how radical researchers have used experiments to overturn conventional wisdom and shaped life as we know it Experiments have consistently been used in the hard sciences but in recent decades social scientists have adopted the practice Randomized trials have been used to design policies to increase educational attainment lower crime rates elevate employment rates and improve living standards among the poor This book tells the stories of radical researchers who have used experiments to overturn conventional wisdom From finding the cure for scurvy to discovering what policies really improve literacy rates Leigh shows how randomistas have shaped life as we know it Written in a Gladwell esque style this book provides a fascinating account of key randomized control trial studies from across the globe and the challenges that randomistas have faced in getting their studies accepted and their findings implemented In telling these stories Leigh draws out key lessons learned and shows the most effective way to conduct these trials
