Saving Congress from Itself James L Buckley,2014-12-09 Saving Congress from Itself proposes a single reform eliminate all federal grants in aid to state and local governments This action would reduce federal spending by over 600 billion a year and have a profound effect on how we govern ourselves The proliferation of federal grants in aid programs is of recent vintage only about 100 such grants existed before Lyndon Johnson took office and now they number more than 1 100 Eliminating grants to the states will result in enormous savings in federal and state administrative costs free states to set their own priorities and improve the design and implementation of programs now subsidized by Washington by eliminating federal regulations that attend the grants In short it will free states and their subdivisions to resume full responsibility for all activities that fall within their competence such as education welfare and highway construction and maintenance And because members of Congress spend major portions of their time creating grants and allocating funds assigned to them think earmarks eliminating grants will enable Congress to devote its time to responsibilities that are uniquely national in character the normative paradigm that school readiness is a positive and necessary objective for all young children this book asserts that the concept is a deficit based practice that fosters the continuation of discriminatory classifications Tager draws on findings of a qualitative study to reveal how the neoliberal agenda of school reform based on high stakes testing sorts and labels children as non ready affecting their overall schooling careers Tager reflects critically on the relationship between race and school readiness showing how the resulting exclusionary measures perpetuate the marginalization of low income Black children from an early age Disrupting expected notions of readiness is imperative to ending practices of structural classism and racism in early childhood education      Early Childhood Curriculum for All Learners Ann M. Selmi, Raymond J. Gallagher, Eugenia R. Mora-Flores, 2014-08-12 Early Childhood Curriculum for All Learners Integrating Play and Literacy Activities is designed to teach early childhood professionals about the latest research on play and early literacy and then to show them practical methods for adapting this research to everyday classroom practices that will encourage the development of learning skills The authors link solid play based research to specific developmentally appropriate practices By combining these two areas the text demonstrates that academic learning and play activities are highly compatible and that children can and do develop academic skills through play In addition the text focuses on socio dramatic play a recently acknowledged essential aspect of child initiated play interactions It provides specific strategies that link these interactive behaviors with the early academic skills needed for the initial primary grades Implementation of the information presented in this book will enable children to experience a richer transition into primary education classrooms      The Pre-K Home Companion Sherelyn R.
