examines the synergistic relationship between gender and urban space in post millennium Spain. Despite the social progress Spain has made extending equal rights to all citizens particularly in the wake of the Franco regime and radically liberating Transición the fact remains that not all subjects particularly women immigrants and queers possess equal autonomy. The book exposes visible shifts in power dynamics within the nation's largest urban capitals Madrid and Barcelona and takes a hard look at more peripheral bedroom communities as all of these spaces reflect the discontent of a post nationalistic economically unstable Spain. As the contributors problematize notions of public and private space and disrupt gender binaries related with these they aspire to engender discussion around civic status the administration of space and the place of all citizens in a global world.

Environmental performance of pig supply chains: Guidelines for assessment (Version 1) Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-02-23 This is a living document produced by the Livestock Environmental and Assessment Performance LEAP Partnership. The document presents a methodology and provides guidance for the assessment of the environmental performance of pig supply chains. It provides users guidance on how to apply the life cycle assessment approach to pig supply chains. Demand for livestock products is projected to grow 1.3 percent per year until 2050 driven by global population growth and increasing wealth and urbanization. This projected growth places significant pressure on the livestock sector to perform in a more sustainable way. Currently many different methods are used to assess the environmental impacts and performance of livestock products. This causes confusion and makes it difficult to compare results and set priorities for continuing improvement The intention of this document is to provide an overview assessment of existing studies and associated methods that have used life cycle assessment for the evaluation of pig supply chains

Nutrient Flows and associated environmental impacts in livestock supply chains. Guidelines for assessment Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2018-09-27 The aim of the methodology developed in these guidelines is to introduce a harmonized international approach assessing nutrient flows and impact assessment for eutrophication and acidification for livestock supply chains taking the specificity of the various production systems involved into consideration The methodology strives to increase understanding of nutrient use efficiency and associated environmental impacts and to facilitate the improvement of livestock systems environmental performance The guidelines are a product of the Livestock Environmental Assessment and Performance LEAP Partnership a multi stakeholder initiative whose goal is to improve the environmental sustainability of livestock sector through better metrics and data Nutrient use in livestock production systems increased over the last decades due to the increased demand for livestock production This demand is mainly driven by the increase in the population growth population income and urbanization

Consequently in livestock supply chains nutrient losses into the environment have contributed to environmental burdens such as climate change air and water pollution degradation of soil quality loss of biodiversity and human health issues Therefore there is strong interest in measuring nutrient flows to improve the environmental performance of the livestock sector The objectives of these guidelines are To develop a harmonized science based approach resting on a consensus among the sector s stakeholders To recommend a scientific but at the same time practical an approach that builds on existing or developing methodologies To promote a harmonised approach to assess nutrient flows and impact assessment relevant for global livestock supply chains To identify the principal areas where ambiguity or differing views exist concerning the methodological framework During the development process these guidelines were submitted for technical review and public review The purpose is to strengthen the advice provided and ensure it meets the needs of those seeking to improve nutrient use efficiency and environmental performance through sound assessment practice This document is not intended to remain static It will be updated and improved as the sector evolves and more stakeholders become involved in the LEAP and as new methodological frameworks and data become available The guidelines developed by the LEAP Partnership gain strength because they represent a multi actor coordinated cross sectoral and international effort to harmonize assessment approaches Ideally the harmonization leads to greater understanding transparent application and communication of metrics and not least real and measurable improvement in environmental performance

Ces estimations font apparaître des écarts considérables entre les pays et même entre les régions l'intérieur des pays. Les données rassemblées dans la présente édition servent de base à une réflexion sur les mesures que pourraient prendre les pays compte tenu de la nature et de l'ampleur du problème mais aussi d'autres facteurs tels que les systèmes de production agricole, le niveau de développement et les structures politiques. On trouvera aussi des indications sur les priorités qui pourraient être suivies dans le choix des politiques et des interventions pour lutter contre les contraintes hydriques dans le secteur agricole tout en assurant un accès à l'eau efficient, durable et équitable.

Learner Corpora in Language Testing and Assessment Marcus Callies, Sandra Götz, 2015-04-15 The aim of this volume is to highlight the benefits and potential of using learner corpora for the testing and assessment of L2 proficiency in both speaking and writing reflecting the growing importance of learner corpora in applied linguistics and second language acquisition research. Identifying several desiderata for future research and practice, the volume presents a selection of original studies covering a variety of different languages. It features studies that present very thoroughly compiled new corpus resources which are tailor made and ready for analysis in LTA, new tools for the automatic assessment of proficiency levels and new methods of self assessment with the help of learner corpora. Other studies suggest innovative research methodologies of how proficiency can be operationalized through learner corpus data. The volume is of particular interest to researchers in applied corpus linguistics, learner corpus research, language testing and assessment as well as for materials developers and language teachers.

The terminology drawn upon integrates traditional discourse and emerging topic matter into a state of the art two volume set. Volume 1: Theoretical and Methodological Concepts is comprised of theoretical topic matter spanning theories and terminology from psychology contextualized to sport and physical activity, sport psychology focused theories and expansive discussions related to philosophy of science and methodology. Volume 2: Applied and Practical Measures draws upon practical concepts that bridge theory and research and practice. Broader issues that extend beyond sport and physical activity participants are embedded within the entries intended to augment physical, mental and social well-being. This expansive encyclopedia is a must-have resource for all professionals, scholars and students in the fields of sport psychology and sport science.

Progress in Water

Footprint Assessment Arjen Y. Hoekstra, Ashok K. Chapagain, Pieter Van Oel, 2019-06-24 Water Footprint Assessment is a young research field that considers how freshwater use scarcity and pollution relate to consumption production and trade patterns This book presents a wide range of studies within this new field It is argued that collective and coordinated action at different scale levels and along all stages of commodity supply chains is necessary to bring about more sustainable efficient and equitable water use The presented studies range from farm to catchment and country level and show how different actors along the supply chain of final commodities can contribute to more sustainable water use in the chain The State of Food and Agriculture 2020 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations ,2020-11-26 Intensifying water constraints threaten food security and nutrition Thus urgent action is needed to make water use in agriculture more sustainable and equitable Irrigated agriculture remains by far the largest user of freshwater but scarcity of freshwater is a growing problem owing to increasing demand and competition for freshwater resources At the same time rainfed agriculture is facing increasing precipitation variability driven by climate change These trends will exacerbate disputes among water users and inequality in access to water especially for small scale farmers the rural poor and other vulnerable populations The State of Food and Agriculture 2020 presents new estimates on the pervasiveness of water scarcity in irrigated agriculture and of water shortages in rainfed agriculture as well as on the number of people affected It finds major differences across countries and also substantial spatial variation within countries This evidence informs a discussion of how countries may determine appropriate policies and interventions depending on the nature and magnitude of the problem but also on other factors such as the type of agricultural production system and countries level of development and their political structures Based on this the publication provides guidance on how countries can prioritize policies and interventions to overcome water constraints in agriculture while ensuring efficient sustainable and equitable access to water Academic and Student Affairs in Collaboration Mitchell A. Levy, Bernard A. Polnarev, 2016-06-10 Academic and Student Affairs in Collaboration provides a comprehensive and evidenced based understanding of the partnerships necessary to achieve an institutional culture devoted to student success Chapter authors explore how to design implement and assess collaborative efforts between student and academic affairs in support of increased student success This book provides best practices for fostering and enhancing campus dialogue career development pathways academic support services and other important initiatives to increase retention and learning outcomes improve motivation and goal attainment and enhance institutional accountability This book is a must read for scholars faculty leaders and practitioners in Student Affairs and Higher Education interested in achieving student success at their universities and colleges
