Guided Strategies Answers History:

Crafting History Albená Yaneva, 2020-11-15 What constitutes an archive in architecture What forms does it take What epistemology does it perform What kind of craft is archiving Crafting History provides answers and offers insights on the ontological granularity of the archive and its relationship with architecture as a complex enterprise that starts and ends much beyond the act of building or the life of a creator In this book we learn how objects are processed and catalogued how a classification scheme is produced how models and drawings are preserved and how born digital material battles time and technology obsolescence We follow the work of conservators librarians cataloguers digital archivists museum technicians curators and architects and we capture archiving in its mundane and practical course Based on ethnographic observation at the Canadian Centre for Architecture and interviews with a range of practitioners including Ivano Siza and Peter Eisenman Albená Yaneva traces archiving through the daily work and care of all its participants scrutinizing their variable ontology scale and politics Yaneva addresses the strategies practicing architects employ to envisage an archive based future and tells a story about how architectural collections are crafted so as to form the epistemological basis of architectural history

Hollywood or History? Lisa K. Pennington, Donna Fortune, Mary E. Tackett, Paige Horst, Meghan A. Kessler, 2024-09-01 Teaching and learning through Hollywood or commercial film and television productions is anything but a new approach and has been something of a mainstay in the classroom for nearly a century However purposeful and effective instruction through film is not problem free and there are many challenges that accompany classroom applications of Hollywood motion pictures In response to the problems and possibilities associated with teaching through film we are developing a collection of practical classroom ready lesson ideas that might bridge gaps between theory and practice and assist teachers endeavoring to make effective use of film in their classrooms We believe that film can serve as a powerful tool in the social studies classroom and where appropriately utilized foster critical thinking and civic mindedness The NCSS College Career and Civic Life C3 framework represents a renewed and formalized emphasis on the perennial social studies goals of deep thinking reading and writing We believe that as teachers endeavor to digest and implement the platform in schools and classrooms across the country the desire for access to structured strategies that lead to more active and rigorous investigation in the social studies classroom will grow increasingly acute Our hope is that this edited book might play a small role in the larger project of supporting practitioners specifically K 6 teachers of social studies content by offering a collection of classroom ready tools based on the Hollywood or History strategy and designed to foster inquiry through the careful use of selected motion pictures and television productions

The Natural Method Eddy Nahmias, Thomas W. Polger, Wenqing Zhao, 2020-08-04 Prominent philosophers explore themes in the work of Owen Flanagan focusing on debates about the nature of mind, the self, and morality. Owen Flanagan's work offers a model for how to be a naturalistic and scientifically informed philosopher who writes beautifully and deeply about topics as varied as consciousness and Buddhism, moral psychology, and dreaming, identity, and addiction, literature, and neuroscience. In this volume, leading philosophers, Flanagan's friends, colleagues, and former students explore themes in his work focusing on debates over the nature of mind, the self, and morality. Some contributors address Flanagan's work directly; others are inspired by his work or methodology. Their essays are variously penetrating and synoptic, cautious and speculative. The contributors offer proposals for productive interdisciplinary research exploring consciousness, personhood, religious cognition, mental disorders, addiction, the narrative self, virtue, the social sciences, forgiveness, and comparative philosophy. The authors share a commitment to virtues exemplified in Flanagan's work: interdisciplinary inquiry, an optimistic temperament, and a willingness to change one's mind.

Hollywood or History? Sarah J. Kaka, 2022-01-01

The rationale for the present text, Hollywood or History: An Inquiry-Based Strategy for Using Film to Teach About Inequality and Inequity Throughout History, stems from two main things. First and foremost is the fact that the reviews of the first two volumes in the Hollywood or History series have been overwhelmingly positive, especially as it pertains to the application of the strategy for practitioners. Classroom utility and teacher practice have continued to be the primary objectives in developing the Hollywood or History strategy. The second thing is that this most recent volume in the series takes it in a new direction rather than focusing on eras in history; it focuses on the themes of inequity and inequality throughout history and how teachers can utilize the Hollywood or History strategy to tackle some of the more complicated content throughout history that many teachers tend to shy away from. There is a firm belief that students' connection to film, along with teachers' ability to use film in an effective manner, will help alleviate some of the challenges of teaching challenging topics such as inequity and inequality in terms of gender, race, socioeconomic status, and so much more. The book provides 30 secondary lesson plans, grades 6-12, that address nine different topics centered around inequity and inequality throughout history, many of which connect students to the world we are living in today. The intended audience for the book are teachers who teach social studies at the 6th 12th grade level both in the United States and other countries An additional audience will be college and university social studies history methods professors in the United States and worldwide PSAT/NMSQT 2017
