Bureau of Private Schools,1952      Employment Disincentives Memo ,1986      Making a Grade James Elwick,2021-03-01 Starting in the 1850s achievement tests became standardized in the British Isles and were administered on an industrial scale By the end of the century more than two million people had written mass exams particularly in science technology and mathematics Some candidates responded to this standardization by cramming or cheating others embraced the hope that such tests rewarded not only knowledge but also merit Written with humour Making a Grade looks at how standardized testing practices quietly appeared and then spread worldwide This book situates mass exams marks and credentials in an emerging paper based meritocracy arguing that such exams often first appeared as cameras to neutrally record achievement and then became engines to change education as people tailored their behaviour to fit these tests Taking the perspectives of both examiners and examinees Making a Grade claims that our own culture s desire for accountability through objective testing has a long history

California in a Time of Excellence James Andrew LaSpina,2009-02-26 California in a Time of Excellence follows the Golden State s efforts to reform its public school system from 1983 to the present Beginning with progressive curriculum reform initiatives that were launched even before the National Commission on Excellence in Education NCEE issued A Nation at Risk in 1983 James Andrew LaSpina traces these reform efforts through recurring culture wars major clashes of personality and a conflict between the state s tradition of progressive educational policy and a culture of conservatism that colored much of the so called Left Coast s history since the sixties While the battles over curriculum reform in California reflect those at the national level the political world surrounding this conflict reveals the enormous significance of the conflict and its implications for our national future      Research in Education ,1974      Modern Mathematics Dirk De Bock,2023-03-08 The international New Math developments between about 1950 through 1980 are regarded by many mathematics educators and education historians as the most historically important development in curricula of the twentieth century It attracted the attention of local and international politicians of teachers and of parents and influenced the teaching and learning of mathematics at all levels kindergarten to college graduate in many nations After garnering much initial support it began to attract criticism But as Bill Jacob and the late Jerry Becker show in Chapter 17 some of the effects became entrenched This volume edited by Professor Dirk De Bock of Belgium provides an outstanding overview of the New Math modern mathematics movement Chapter authors provide exceptionally high quality analyses of the rise of the movement and of subsequent developments within a range of nations The first few chapters show how the initial leadership came from mathematicians in European nations and in the United States of America The background leaders in Europe were

Caleb Gattegno and members of a mysterious group of mainly French pure mathematicians who since the 1930s had published under the name of a fictitious Nicolas Bourbaki In the United States there emerged during the 1950s various attempts to improve U S mathematics curricula and teaching especially in secondary schools and colleges This side of the story climaxed in 1957 when the Soviet Union succeeded in launching Sputnik the first satellite Undoubtedly this is a landmark publication in education The foreword was written by Professor Bob Moon one of a few other scholars to have written on the New Math from an international perspective The final epilogue chapter by Professor Geert Vanpaemel a historian draws together the overall thrust of the volume and makes links with the general history of curriculum development especially in science education including recent globalization trends Government Reports Announcements & Index ,1980-03 The Official Record of the United States Department of Agriculture United States.
