

SAFETY

To achieve highest operator safety, combined with ease of handling, the Model 1911 is labeled as "DOUBLE ACTION ONLY." It has no manual safety and the hammer is never fully cocked.

The hammer is of a novel design. Compared to a conventional hammer, the Model 1911 hammer is very light and consequently, operates at high velocities. It is driven by a double free floating extension spring. Furthermore, the hammer's mass is concentrated around its axis giving an inertia in the critical direction of the firing pin close to zero.

In its ready position the hammer is securely held by the hammer block. Only by deliberately pulling the trigger can the hammer block be disengaged. The sliding action of the barrel includes a cam which the trigger is fully cocked. A direct blow to the hammer is impossible because of the slide and grip. The hammer's energy is transmitted to the firing pin only after the hammer has struck the firing pin.

MAINTENANCE

Proper function of your handgun requires regular cleaning and care. Read the instruction manual that came with your handgun for more complete instructions of maintenance and safety. For more information on this product, please visit our website at <http://www.gaucha.com>.

Malfunction: Failure of the handgun to fire is most commonly caused by the slide not fully locking into its ready and firing positions. A safe design feature of the Model 1911 is that the slide will not fully lock into its ready and firing positions until the trigger is fully depressed. Another potential cause is that the trigger was not allowed to fully reset after being pulled. The hammer is then dropped from the hammer block, which causes the firing pin to be misaligned. Be sure to allow the trigger to go fully forward after it has been pulled.

Failure to Feed: This occurs when a cartridge has been fed from a magazine but not fully inserted. To fix this issue, keep the handgun pointed in a safe direction, remove the magazine, operate the slide manually and visually inspect. If necessary change the magazine. The most common causes are dirt or foreign objects impeding the magazine's movement.

Failure to Lock: Failure of the slide to lock into its ready and firing positions is caused when the slide is not fully extended from the chamber. This can occur from the slide being stuck in a safe direction. Use the manual ejection procedure. Visually inspect the slide and chamber. If necessary change the magazine. The most common causes are a damaged extractor, spalls or gas blowback.

Improperly stored or stored cartridges can cause this also. If any of the above problems are not solved by cleaning or by use of other brands of ammunition, stop using, unload and return the pistol to our service department.

DISASSEMBLY

Unload your pistol. Pull the slide back. The slide will lock into its ready position. Using the tip of a flathead screwdriver, pry the slide forward. While holding the slide, release the slide stop. The slide will move forward and lock into the frame. Remove the barrel spring. The barrel is now separated from the handgun. Do not touch the barrel.

ASSEMBLY

Insert the barrel into the frame. The barrel will slide into the frame until it is fully seated. Push the slide back onto the frame until the slide lock is up with the grip. If the slide does not go on the frame easily, make sure that the hammer is fully reset and that the barrel and recoil spring guide is centered. While pushing down on the top of the barrel, pull the slide back all the way, compressing the recoil springs, and push up on the slide stop to hold the slide in place. Lock into the assembly pin hole and align that hole with the cut in the barrel. Insert the assembly pin until it snaps into the spring. Pull the slide back a little to release the slide stop and release the slide. Work the slide a few times to check the action. Do not use the slide stop. Always use the firing pin and extractor firing pins.
