Handbook of Research on Character and Leadership Development in Military Schools Ryan, Mark Patrick, Weekes, Timothy L., 2021-01-22 Military academies have served youth for more than a century with proud traditions of producing graduates who are scholars leaders and athletes who adhere to a code of honor and ethical principles as they take the knowledge skills and dispositions gained at those academies into higher education the business world military service civic endeavors and the broader workforce There is a current gap and need for research that explores the various components of a K 20 military school college education and how those components successfully produce leaders of character for our military civic academic and business worlds both in the United States and abroad The Handbook of Research on Character and Leadership Development in Military Schools synthesizes research on the impact of military academies by providing a singular compendium of current academic studies on the graduates of military academies and the communities of which they enter after graduation The chapters will explore the academics leadership character development citizenship athletics and other dimensions of both global and national and both private and public military academies This book is ideal for current leaders staffs governing board members and alumni of military academies both in the United States and internationally along with policymakers government officials practitioners researchers academicians and students interested in the implications of character and leadership development on individuals enrolled in or graduated from military schools

African Peace Militaries David Francis, 2017-08-16 This book provides a critical understanding of the emerging role of African militaries in peacetime democratic Africa This book departs from the dominant perspective which simply presents the military as an enemy of democracy because of the history and legacy of unending military coup d tats and interventions in civilian politics In the context of Africa the military has been blamed or largely held responsible for instigating wars armed conflicts political violence poverty and underdevelopment due to bad governance and mismanagement of the state Drawing from diverse case studies across Africa including Nigeria Rwanda Uganda Ethiopia and Egypt this volume presents the argument that though the military has played a negative and sometimes destructive role in undermining constitutional rule and the overthrow of democratic civilian governments the same military now operating in a changed global environment is making effort to support the development of democracy and democratic consolidation as well as remain subjected to civilian democratic oversight and control Notwithstanding the real challenge for this emerging trend of African peace militaries is the extent to which they are able to fulfil on a predictable and consistent basis their constitutional mandate to defend the people against elected autocrats in Africa who try to use the military to perpetuate themselves in power This work fills a critical gap in the literature and will be of much interest to students of African security and politics peace and conflict studies security studies and IR in general
