12) Suggest an enquiry question or hypothesis that the students might have proposed for their investigation.

13)

How ~~are~~ effective is coastal management in protecting the coastline from erosion?

This answer uses the material at the top of the page and presents it as a legitimate question, a marks.

Always use the resource.

13) Suggest two problems that the students' choice of locations may have caused.

The first part of this response is unclear although there is a basic idea of 'trouble to drive there', which could be developed to make the point clear and garner a second mark for the point. The second part of this response is explicit about the rocks and the subsequent risks involved, 2 marks.

The most serious things emphasised by using vague terms such as 'hazardous' or 'troublesome' - why might it be 'hazardous'?

1. It's dangerous to drive with bad weather. Location A is a lot more built up than location B, meaning there may be more ~~troublesome~~ ~~hazardous~~ ~~at a point~~.

2. Location B seems to be a ~~hazardous~~ ~~dangerous~~ ~~hard~~ to get to as there is a rocky coastline which looks dangerous. Like A looks a bit easier to get to as it is more built up.

14) Explain how the use of Ordnance Survey (OS) maps might have helped the students choose their two beach locations and the three sites on each of those beaches to carry out the profiles.

15)

OS maps allow you to see the profile into land and as about you to measure it. A location where there is a water point in that you can get a whole beach gradient and inland type gradient. It also allows you to check if any other features are at it or is a beach. It tells you as the OS measure the beach gradient. The OS map also allows you to take the width and beach location to it as it gives you the OS number to gradient every 10m. So you can see location where beach is more steep. It tells you as the OS give a beach which has a ~~hazardous~~ ~~dangerous~~ ~~at a point~~.

There is obviously some familiarity with OS maps and several points are made, although some of these especially clearly. The answer is rather spelt by the persistent references to 'take when', certainly in some cases, maybe probably intended to say 'take' as with many candidates, the distinction between site and location is not made clear in this.
