2008 P. Wang, B. Goertzel, S. Franklin, 2008-02-18 The field of Artificial Intelligence AI was initially directly aimed at the construction of thinking machines that is computer systems with human like general intelligence But this task proved more difficult than expected As the years passed AI researchers gradually shifted focus to producing AI systems that intelligently approached specific tasks in relatively narrow domains In recent years however more and more AI researchers have recognized the necessity and the feasibility of returning to the original goal of the field Increasingly there is a call to focus less on highly specialized narrow AI problem solving systems and more on confronting the difficult issues involved in creating human level intelligence and ultimately general intelligence that goes beyond the human level in various ways Artificial General Intelligence AGI as this renewed focus has come to be called attempts to study and reproduce intelligence as a whole in a domain independent way Encouraged by the recent success of several smaller scale AGI related meetings and special tracks at conferences the initiative to organize the very first international conference on AGI was taken with the goal to give researchers in the field an opportunity to present relevant research results and to exchange ideas on topics of common interest In this collection you will find the conference papers full length papers short position statements and also the papers presented in the post conference workshop on the sociocultural ethical and futurological implications of AGI AP Q&A

Artificial General Intelligence Matthew Iklé, Arthur Franz, Rafal Rzepka, Ben Goertzel, 2018-08-02 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 11th International Conference on Artificial General Intelligence AGI 2018 held in Prague Czech Republic in August 2018 The 19 regular papers and 10 poster papers presented in this book were carefully reviewed and selected from 52 submissions The conference encourage interdisciplinary research based on different understandings of intelligence and exploring different approaches As the AI field becomes increasingly commercialized and well accepted maintaining and emphasizing a coherent focus on the AGI goals at the heart of the field remains more critical than ever

Artificial General Intelligence Julian Togelius, 2024-09-24 How to make AI capable of general intelligence and what such technology would mean for society Artificial intelligence surrounds us More and more of the systems and services you interact with every day are based on AI technology Although some very recent AI systems are generalists to a degree most AI is narrowly specific that is it can only do a single thing in a single context For example your spellchecker can't do mathematics and the world's best chess playing program can't play Tetris Human intelligence is different We can solve a variety of tasks including those we have not seen before In Artificial General Intelligence Julian Togelius explores technical approaches to developing more general artificial intelligence and asks what general AI would mean for human civilization Togelius starts by giving examples of narrow AI that have superhuman performance in some way Interestingly there have been AI systems that are superhuman in some sense for more than half a century He then discusses what it would mean to have general intelligence by looking at definitions from psychology ethology and computer science Next he explores the two main families of technical approaches to developing more general artificial intelligence foundation models through self supervised learning and open ended learning in virtual environments The final chapters of the book investigate potential artificial general intelligence beyond the strictly technical aspects The questions discussed here investigate whether such general AI would be conscious whether it would pose a risk to humanity and how it might alter society
