Private Pilots in Canada and preparation for the PPL written examination A High-Rate Virtual Instrument of Marine Vehicle Motions for Underwater Navigation and Ocean Remote Sensing Chrystel Gelin, 2012-08-22 Dead Reckoning aided with Doppler velocity measurement has been the most common method for underwater navigation for small vehicles. Unfortunately, DR requires frequent position recalibrations and underwater vehicle navigation systems are limited to periodic position updates when they surface. Finally, standard Global Positioning System (GPS) receivers are unable to provide the rate or precision required when used on a small vessel. To overcome this, a low cost high rate motion measurement system for an Unmanned Surface Vehicle (USV) with underwater and oceanographic purposes is proposed. The proposed onboard system for the USV consists of an Inertial Measurement Unit (IMU) with accelerometers and rate gyros, a GPS receiver, a flux gate compass, a roll and tilt sensor, and an ADCP. Interfacing all the sensors proved rather challenging because of their different characteristics. The proposed data fusion technique integrates the sensors and develops an embeddable software package using real time data fusion methods for a USV to aid in navigation and control as well as controlling an onboard Acoustic Doppler Current Profiler (ADCP). While ADCPs non-intrusively measure water flow, the vessel motion needs to be removed to analyze the data and the system developed provides the motion measurements and processing to accomplish this task.

Even though it has been written in the context of Relief and Development work, the same process is valid for whatever other application. Lunar Meteoroid Impacts and How to Observe Them Brian Cudnik, 2009-12-04 The face of the Moon we see today has been substantially etched by the effects of meteor impacts. Craters on the Moon are the result of ancient impacts with large meteorites or small asteroid-like bodies which produced both primary craters where the meteorites hit and secondary craters where material hurled high above the surface crashed back down. Even some of the vast lunar seas, actually basalt plains from ancient volcanic eruptions, may have been the result of impacts that triggered lava outflows. The era of major impacts on the Moon may have passed, but lunar meteorites may well be the cause of what are known as Lunar Transient Phenomena (LTP) or sometimes TLP flashes and puffs of gas or vaporized rock or dust that are observed on the Moon's surface. This book looks at the way the Moon has been shaped by meteorites, proposes lunar meteorites as the most likely cause of most LTPs, and describes in practical detail how amateur astronomers can observe impacts on the Moon past and current.
